SAYS FRENCH PEOPLE IN 'LATENT REVOLT'

LONDON, Sept 23.—(AP)—The people of France are "in a state of latent revolt" against the Germans, and every day blood flows in Paris," General Charles de Gaulle declared today in announcing organization of a new national council for his Free French movement.

Whatever differences once existed among the French people, the one aim of the vast majority now is "the liberation of France," he said, so the council is being formed as a temporary administration, ready to hand over the reins when a French republic is restored.

The council, to be named tomorrow, will have eight or nine members, headed by de Gaulle and with headquarters here.

De Gaulle asserted that his Free French land forces now numbered 70,000 men ready to fight or already actually fighting.

VICHY, unoccupied France, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Germans in Lille announced they shot three Communist terrorists this morning for bombings and incendiarism in the prohibited northern frontier zone.

Dr. J. B. Hall, coroner, stated it was a suicide. A note was found addressed to Eitel's son, Leland, 19, in which Eitel referred to his ill health and inability to work. Eitel had recently been a cotton buyer at Hope, Ark., but formerly resided in Plain Dealing and Shreveport.

Business Today

By Paul Gesner And John Beckley

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—(News-Star Special News Service)—Mary Jones is a sales girl in a large department store.

She makes $20 a week.

She is unmarried, has no dependents.

Under the new revenue law she will pay around $22 federal income tax for 1941.

John Brown is a junior administrative employe of a large oil company.

His salary is $3,000 a year.

He is married, has no children.

He has no expenses or other permissible tax deductions to speak of, so his 1941 federal income tax bill will be around $123.

Steve Smith is an industrial executive.

He is married, has two minor children.

His salary is $4,000 a year.

If he has no large deductible expenses, no real estate taxes or mortgage interest or gifts to charity, Uncle Sam for 1941 will collect around $154 income tax from him.

The foregoing examples give you an idea of the whack the new taxes are going to give millions of pocketbooks.

Personal federal income taxes under the new law are the highest in the nation's history.

But on the other hand, the nation faces a grave emergency.

Around $55,000,000,000 must be spent for national defense and aid to Britain. An additional $5,985,000,000 for lend-lease on top of the $55,000,000,000 already earmarked for defense has been asked for by the president. More may be asked later.

War planes cost money.

Tanks cost money.

Giving a year's training to 2,000,000 selective service trainees costs money.

Building battleships, destroyers, submarines, merchant ships, and air and naval bases is expensive, too.

But because the general public knows the seriousness of the emergency, and the urgent need for an American barricade of arms, internal revenue officials think most people will step up on the line and pay their income taxes next March 15 with the least grumbling on record.

Federal tax officials urged the Mary Jones', the John Browns and the Steve Smiths—everyone with a taxable income—to sit down now, take paper and pencil, and draw up an estimate

MANY FAIRS TO BE HELD LATE

Dates Arranged After Postponement Because Of Army Maneuvers

By Norman Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Besides causing the postponement of school openings in a number of parishes in the Louisiana army maneuver area, the flood of khaki-clad troops has been the reasor for cancelling a number of the parish and district fairs scheduled this fall.

However, many others simply changed their fair dates un'l later when the soldiers will have evacuated the maneuver area for their respective camps and the annual autumn round of fairs will begin with as much enthusiasm as ever.

State Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration Harry D. Wilson, who each year helps arraage the fair dates, predicts a successful season.

The 1941 fall livestock show and rodeo has been extended several days this year in order to permit more time for judging and special events. It will run from November 8 through November 16 and the East Baton

British And U. S. Missions Will Confer With Soviet Officials

(By Associated Press)

Red army troops battling to save Leningrad were reported today to have stemmed the German onslaught in bitter fighting around Lake Ilmen, south of the old czarist capital, and hurled the Nazi invaders back seven miles in fierce bayonet charges elsewhere on the Leningrad front.

Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, said that the Germans lost up to 50,000 killed, wounded and captured in the Lake Ilmen fighting, and that the Russians had launched successful counter-attacks.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's high command today reported the destruction of 50 Soviet army divisions—about 750,000 troops—and the capture of 380,000 prisoners in the bloody trap 125 miles east of Kiev, while Italian dispatches pictured scenes of chaotic retreat by Russia's armies in the Ukraine.

The commander-in-chief of the Soviet 5th army was listed among the prisoners.

Nazi military dispatches also asserted that advances by the Red army counter-offensive east of Smolensk, on the central front guarding Moscow, "have collapsed under German fire."

In London, Russian Ambassador Ivan M. Maisky declared that in three months of war Germany has lost 3,000,000 men in killed, wounded or missing—one-third of the entire Nazi army.

Maisky described the German high command's report last week on German losses as "utterly ridiculous." The high command, on September 19, placed Nazi losses in the first two months of the war at only 85,896 dead, 296,670 wounded and 20,299 missing.

On the diplomatic front, the Germans declared bluntly that whatever happened to the United States-owned S. S. Pink Star in the waters near Iceland "was done in accordance with the laws of war" and asserted that Secretary of State Cordell Hull drove America another step nearer war with his comment that the United States neutrality act should be changed.

What Mr. Hull actually told newsmen in Washington was that he and

450 ARE CRAFT APPRENTICES

Indentured By State Council, Division Of Labor Department

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—About 450 young men in Louisiana's five principal cities have been indentured as craft apprentices by the state apprenticeship council, a division of the state labor department

J. S. Voorhies, recently named director by the council after he had served as acting director for several months, said the apprenticeship committee composed of representatives of management and labor was making considerable progress with the help of the federal labor department.

Indentured apprentices, between 16 and 25 years of age, agree to a wage scale during the period when they are occupied learning trades and attending classes of related instruction twice weekly, or 144 hours a year. The classes are provided by the state department of education.

STATE FIREMEN OPEN SESSIONS AT HOTEL HERE

President Calls Meeting To Order; Barbecue Planned In Park

With an enrollment of approximately 100 up to noon Tuesday, and with an anticipated 200 more, who are expected to register later in the day, the state gathering of firemen opened the 36th annual convention at Hotel Virginia.

The three-day convention was called to order by President Jules Hebert, chief of the Plaquemine fire department, at 1 p.m. Tuesday. The address of welcome that was scheduled to be given by Mayor H. H. Benoit, who is out of the city, was given by City Attorney S. L. Digby.

An impressive service of the afternoon was that held in memory of those who have died since the last year's convention was held. There will be a barbecue at Bernstein park, Tuesday night, and a banquet and dance Wednesday night.

The sessions on Thursday will be devoted largely to business matters. Officers will render their reports, standing and convention committees will report and officers for the coming year will be elected and the 1942 convention city will be named.

The list of speakers who are to participate on the program of the convention comprises: General Steve Alford, director of public safety for Louisiana; Mayor Sam Caldwell, of Shreveport; Edward Wright, of Houma; Walter K. Grant, municipal engineer, Louisiana rating and fire prevention bureau, New Orleans; Dr. Andrew Triche, state supervisor of trade and industrial education; Major L. A. SPRINGHILL MAN TAKES OWN LIFE

SPRINGHILL, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The body of Philip Knight, 26, well-known Springhill citizen, was found about 400 yards from his home, with the top of his head blown off by the discharge from a shotgun, and the gun lying across the lower part of his legs.

Dr. S. M. Richardson, Webster parish coroner, pronounced his death a suicide and said it looked as if he had used the toes of his right foot to pull the trigger. His right shoe was off when the body was found.

When Knight did not return home Sunday night a search for him was started Monday and his body was found near a neighbor's house about 400 yards from the Knight residence.

The gun was a 16-gauge pump shotgun.

WOMACK HOLDS VOTE MACHINE LAW IS INVALID

Issues Injunction Prohibiting Orleans And State From Purchasing

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—District Judge J. D. Womack today held the voting machine law enacted by the 1940 legislature unconstitutional and issued a preliminary injunction prohibiting the state and the city of New Orleans, where their use was made mandatory under the act, from buying, renting or leasing the machines.

Judge Womack held specifically that Act 84 of 1940 was invalid, remarking in his opinion that it was "a striking and glaring example of loosely written, hastily prepared and ill considered legislation."

"A casual examination of its various and many provisions," the court said, "discloses and exposes either an amazing and astounding lack of care and serious thought in its preparation and confection, or an utter disregard and disdain on the part of the author of the act of the well known and simple constitutional requirements and provisions."

In this comment the court had underlined the word "confection" in the opinion text.

The decision was by far the broadest of a number of cases brought be-

THINKS SMASHERS WILL STOP TANKS

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A chief of cavalry whose horsemen have been under sharp pressure by faster-striking tank units in the current army maneuvers, predicted today that armored divisions eventually would be stopped by mobile tank-smashers faster than the tanks.

"The panzers are riding high for the time being because they are so comparatively new" said Major-General John K. Herr, cavalry leader here from Washington, "but eventually they will be halted.

"They will be halted and smashed, not by cavalry, of course, but by the more mobile units which can go anywhere tanks go do it faster, and hit harder. These units are being organized now."

General Herr said one of the main jobs of his cavalry in modern lightning war is to be a link between mechanized and armored forces and the slower moving infantry which has to hold the gains made by tanks

"If the Germans had more cavalry in Russia," he asserted, "their successes might have been quicker. The Russians have been letting tanks through and then closing in behind them."

Herr commands the United States 19 cavalry regiments, two of them mechanized, which use approximately 12,000 horses. About 9,000 of the total are participating in the maneuvers.

SUPERIORITY IN AIR SEEN SOON FOR U. S. ARMY

Military Men Highly Pleased With Performance Of Planes, Fliers

RECEIVED HARD TEST

Quagmires And Stormy Weather Demonstrate Worthiness Of Craft

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—High military officials said today that the army air forces had surpassed all expectations for performance during the Louisiana maneuvers and that only time stood between the United States and unchallenged superiority in the air.

Combat craft ordered from the drawing boards only a few months ago and pilots fresh from training schools participated in the gigantic war games which have just ended. They had the task of demonstrating whether—as military men had claimed—this country had the world's best air force in point of quality.

Except for the absence of "live" ammunition, the flying has been done under conditions as nearly warlike as they could be made, and authorities just returned from the maneuver area with copious data on the results to date said they could not have asked for better performance either by men or machines.

In fact, they added, storms which flooded several flying fields and turned others into virtual quagmires made the test much more difficult than planned and consequently the results were much better than the most optimistic had hoped for.

"We know now," one official said, "that we have the world's finest planes and our flying men are superb. All we need is time—time to turn out huge numbers of these planes to bring the quantity of our air force up to its quality and to train our young pilots in combat flying."

The army has kept its supply of training craft abreast of its pilot training program, but the problem of keeping these men in the air once they leave school is primarily a problem of supplying combat planes—two and four-motor bombers and fighters—in ever increasing quantities This problem is complicated by the fact that a large percentage of combat planes are turned over to England each month

RIGHT-OF-ENTRY ORDER IS GIVEN

War Department Authorized To Take Over Sterlington Plant Site

An order authorizing the war department to take immediate possession of a 136.5-acre tract in Ouachita parish for the Dixie Ordnance plant to be established at Sterlington was filed in the federal clerk of court's office in Shreveport yesterday.

A government check for $22,000 was deposited with the court in payment for the land—$4,000 to the Imperial Oil and Gas Products Company; $17,500 to D. Y. Smith, Inc., and $500 to I. L. Slade.

The action from the federal court virtually assured the construction of the plant at Sterlington. It had been rumored that there had been differences between property owners and the government regarding land the government wished to acquire and that another area might be chosen.

"The order assures right-of-entry to the property pending final negotiations between the government and the property owners," First Lieutenant Thomas A. Cantrell, assistant constructing quartermaster here, said last night, adding that "it simply means that we have access to the land."

H. A. Watson, general superintendent of construction, said that an employment office had not been set up. His temporary office is in the Ouachita National Bank building.

It is estimated that the plant will cover 50 acres and that 15 months will be required to build the plant. Anhydrous ammonia is used in the production of nitric acid, a principal component of high explosives.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A B-12 medium bomber on training flight from Barksdale field crashed eight miles north of Waskom, Tex., just before noon, killing the pilot.

Eye-witnesses said the motor seemed to be out of order. The pilot's body was thrown clear of the plane. He was not immediately identified.

TROOPS READY FOR 2ND HALF OF MANEUVERS

High Ranking Commanders Of Second Army Hold Critical Analysis

By Jerry T. Baulch

WITH SECOND ARMY, Sept. 23.—(AP)—While high ranking commanders of the Second army gathered at Camp Polk in central Louisiana today for a critical analysis of the first half of the nation's big war games, the 125,000 troops of Lieutenant-General Ben Lear moved into position for the second half.

The problem, renewing hostilities through the hilly swamp country of north and central Louisiana, is scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m., central standard time, Wednesday, but the troops were shifted beforehand to the restraining line for a quick jump into action.

The realignment of strength sent the Second armored division of Fort Benning, Ga., to the Third army and brought under the red colors of General Lear two tank-killer battalions that had worn the blue of Lieutenant-General Walter Krueger.

Details of the problem were not known even to the two army commanders. They will get their orders tonight. It was apparent, however, that the Second army would be on the defensive and the Third army the attacker, reversing the situation from that of the first problem.

Out-numbered five to two last week, the shifts will make the odds even heavier against General Lear's army.

The new battle line stretches from Monroe in north-central Louisiana 100 miles southwestward through Leesville in central Louisiana and into Texas past Jasper. Shreveport, La., will be the main city in the Second army's territory and Alexandria, La., the principal city in the Blue area.

Most of the troops were rested after

CAPT. SUTHERLIN GLAD HE HALTED

At Monroe army air base, Selman field, it was first turn at guard duty for Private J. Campbell. The first person to pass his post was Captain W. V. Sutherlin, commanding officer of the air base installations.

Private Campbell halted the captain, followed instructions as to identifying the passerby, and told him to proceed. The captain was curious. He wanted to know what the guard would have done had the captain not halted.

With due formality, Private Campbell announced he would have called the corporal of the guard. The captain was puzzled. Why would the private call the corporal of the guard? Replied Private Campbell:

"To haul your dead carcass away, sir."

PINK STAR IS LATEST VICTIM IN WAR AT SEA

American-Owned Craft Sent To Bottom In Attack Off Iceland

CHALLENGE IS SEEN

Believe Hitler May Be Reacting To 'Shoot-On-Sight' Orders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The sea war added another American-owned merchantman to its toll today, and the capital wondered whether this latest sinking was meant to be an open challenge to President Roosevelt's shoot-on-sight order which barred the "defensive waters" of the United States to all axis raiders.

The newest victim was the freighter Pink Star, owned by the United States maritime commission but operating under Panamanian registry. The sinking took on great potential significance, for it was the first such incident reported since Mr. Roosevelt proclaimed the "defensive waters" policy September 11.

In Berlin, authorized German sources said that while no German craft had reported sinking the Pink Star it was their opinion that whatever happened to the vessel was "in accordance with the laws of war."

("The vessel was Panamanian, not United States," one German authority said, "and we have not heard yet that Panama is part of the United States. The vessel was sunk in waters clearly defined as a German operations area.")

The Pink Star went down last Friday, the state department disclosed last night, and she met her end southwest of Iceland in the same waters that witnessed the loss of two other American-owned vessels and the unsuccessful submarine attack on the United States destroyer Greer.

The announcement of the Pink Star's sinking was silent on several details—a fact which caused some speculation. Nothing was said about the fate of the 34 men in her crew, and there was no hint as to how she met her end—by a mine, torpedo, an aerial bomb or the guns of a surface raider. No amount of inquiry could elicit official information on these points.

The location of the ship's sinking, however, was definitely placed some 255 miles south of Iceland on the corridor of sea communications which Mr. Roosevelt specifically has ordered the navy to keep clear.

The first ship sunk in those waters was the Sessa, American-owned but of Panamanian registry, which was torpedoed and shelled to the bottom August 17, about 300 miles southwest of Iceland, and on September 11 the

SEAMEN STRIKE TIES UP SHIPS

Walkout Vote Being Taken At Big West Coast Bomber Plant

(By Associated Press)

A seamen's strike kept more than a score of ships needed for defense and lease-lend aid riding at anchor today and A. F. L. machinists reported a strike vote was being taken at a big west coast bomber plant.

The maritime commission offered to sponsor conferences at Washington in an effort to end a dispute over war bonuses on various sea trade routes—and brought in reply an appeal by the New York unit of the Seafarers International union (A. F. L.) to President Roosevelt to investigate the commission's "anti-labor activities."

The 11-day-old strike spread to three more vessels in the Atlantic and gulf last night and Secretary-Treasurer John Hawk of the S. I. U. said 23 ships were idle.

Chairman Emory S. Land, sending the commission's offer of aid to unions representing unlicensed personnel unions as well as to ship operators, said the strike was disrupting "shipping so vitally needed for national defense and all-out aid to democracies."

The union has sought unspecified bonuses for its men who go into war zones and has demanded $60-a-month bonuses for trips to the West Indies.

At the same time, an S. I. U. official said Atlantic and gulf port units

Chalin-Haas Wedding On Monday Claims Interest Of A Wide Circle Of Friends

Characterized by charming simplicity and claiming the sincere interest of friends in this section of the state was the marriage, Monday afternoon, September 22, of Miss Elaine Chalin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Chalin and Mr. Morris W. Haas, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Haas. The ceremony, witnessed by a few intimate friends and members of the two families took place in the reception suite of the Haas home on Riverside drive. Reverend Father Francis Donohoe, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's church, officiated.

A bridal theme was accentuated in the decorative theme. Tall white, wrought iron pedestal vases, overflowing with tube-roses, white chrysanthemums, white phlox and white asters flanked the improvised altar. Cathedral tapers in white, seven-branched candelabra flamed in the background.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart advanced fall model of olive green with brown accessories. A close-fitting hat of green with beaver trimming was worn. An exquisite bouquet of white bouvardia added a distinctive touch to the smart ensemble. For something old she carried an imported rose-point lace handkerchief.

Mr. Haas was attended by his brother, Mr. Cramer Haas.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the dining room where the wedding cake, a luscious confection embossed with a spray of crystalized pink roses, was cut by the bride and bridegroom before they departed on their honeymoon. The polished surface of the table reflected the gleaming candles in handsome silver candelabra placed at either end. At the four corners pink roses overflowed from circular crystal containers.

A variety of confections were served and before the bride and bridegroom departed for a honeymoon in Washington, D. C., everyone present lifted champagne glasses and drank to their health and happiness.

Mrs. Chalin, the bride's mother, assisting in receiving, wore a black chiffon model with dusty pink accessories and a small hat of black with pink coque feather trimming. She wore a corsage of Mystery gardenias. Mrs. Haas wore a poudre blue model with corsage of Mystery gardenias.

The bride, a great favorite in younger social circles, is a graduate of Byrd High school, Shreveport, La., and the Louisiana State Normal. She is a member of Beta Delta sorority.

Mr. Haas, member of a prominent Monroe family associated with the civic and social life of this city for many years, is a graduate of Neville High school and attended the state university at Baton Rouge. He is a member of Delta Sigma fraternity.

Miss Eleanor Johnson, student at Blue Mountain college, Miss., has been admitted into the Modenians.

There being no sororities at Blue Mountain college, the Modenians, Euzelians, and Eunomians are the mediums of extra-curricular expression at this oldest senior college for women in Mississippi.

MEET MISS MINNESOTA

Claire James was Earl Carroll's unqualified selection as "Miss America" for the New York World's fair and the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce tagged her "Miss California." Born in Minneapolis, Minn., she was graduated from high school there. It was the fact that she won a tap-dancing contest against 1,800 contestants that earned her a trip to Hollywood where she soon found herself a decorative part of musical films for several companies. Miss James lives with her parents in Los Angeles and one of her chief ambitions is to see her small brother Bobby through school and college. She is 5 feet 5½ inches in height, has light brown hair, hazel eyes and an olive complexion, and weighs 120 pounds. She is supporting Ann Sheridan and Jack Oakie in Warners' "Navy Blues."

A meeting of the Monroe Rebekah lodge last week attracted twenty-six members. Two new members, Mrs. W. C. Thompson and Mrs. Zettie Demoss, were initiated at this time.

Reports from the various committees were heard. Six members of the local lodge were appointed delegates to the meeting in Baton Rouge, October 6. The district meeting will be held in Jonesboro, October 13. Miss Edith Adams will attend as the Monroe representative. Mrs. Nobie May Tarver will direct the drill team.

Members are looking forward to the visit, October 14, of the national president of Rebekah lodge.

Miss Evelyn Lazette Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Petty of Tallulah, and Mr. Silas L. Cummins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cummins of Columbia, Miss., were united in marriage at the Tallulah Baptist church Sunday afternoon with the Rev. Clarence Crow performing the impressive ring ceremony.

The chancel was attractively decorated with flowers with white floor candelabra holding white candles placed in the background. Floor baskets filled with fern and gladioli in pastel shades flanked the altar.

The bride had as her onl, attendant Mrs. Stanley Harmon who wore an early fall model of navy blue with black accessories with which she wore a corsage of chrysanthemums and Talisman roses. Cary Croxton of Columbia, Miss., served as best man. The ushers were W. C. Workman and J. E. Manis of Tallulah.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a costume suit of wild olive green with wine accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and rosebuds.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. J. C. Sherwin played "Claire de Lune" by DeBussey and "Liebestraum" by Liszt. The wedding march from Lohengrin was used as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional.

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Fay Watts presided at the bride's table centered with a beautifully embossed wedding cake surmounted with bride and groom figurines. Mr. and Mrs. Cummins left for a wedding trip in Hot Springs and Fort Smith, Ark. They will make their home in Tallulah, where Mr. Cummins is employed by the Magnolia Oil company.

The bride is a graduate of the Tallulah High school and attended Louisiana Polytechnic institute. Mr. Cummins is a graduate of the Columbia, Miss., high school.

Miss Hogge And Mr. Holt Honored

Prenuptial affairs are filling with pleasure the engagement days of Miss Juanita Hogge and Mr. Kenneth Holt. Their marriage will be an interesting event of Saturday, September 27.

One of the most gracious compliments bestowed upon Miss Hogge and Mr. Holt was the buffet supper planned by Mr. and Mrs. Walker Glenn.

The supper table, beautifully appointed and candlelit, held a wide assortment of hors d'oeuvres, canapes, and other edibles.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn presented their honor guests with a gift of -epoint crystal.

Additional guests included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Demmary, Mr. and Mrs. James Harris.

Another informal evening bringing together a few intimate friends complimentary to Miss Hogge and Mr. Holt was the boating party Monday night with Miss Jewel Brown and Eddie Fitzpatrick extending courtesies.

Supper was served al fresco on a sand bar where steaks were broiled over a charcoal fire.

The subjects of national and hemisphere defense were much to the fore when America's largest musical organization, the National Federation of Music clubs held it's fall board of directors meeting, and Council of State and District Presidents at the Hotel Netherlands Plaza in Cincinnati recently. Mrs. W. Carruth Jones, Baton Rouge, national board member from Louisiana, and Mrs. Luther A. Beene, state president, represented the state at this meeting. Dr. Willem van de Wall, and Miss Helen Gunderson of Baton Rouge, and both national board members were unable to be present.

While not neglecting the routine business of the organization, representatives of forty-eight states concentrated major attention upon the role which a primarily cultural organization may play in an all-out defense effort.

Taking the lead in spurring the federation to intensive activity along defense lines was Lucy Monroe, director of patriotic music for the R. C. A. Victor, known as the "Star Spangled Soprano," and Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean of New York City, research director of the Foreign Policy association. Miss Monroe, who has temporarily deserted the field of concert and opera for a coast to coast tour to spread the gospel of song as a medium of defense, gave a patriotic song demonstration at the first general meeting. Mrs. Dean, who has just returned from South America, gave an address entitled "The Western Hemisphere Looks to the Future." At a luncheon held on the Hotel Gibson roof, Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelly, honorary and past national president, presided. Mrs. Guy P. Gannett of Maine, newly elected national president, spoke briefly on the initial slogan of her administration, "Mobilize for All-Out Defense."

Mrs. Vincent Hills Ober, the immediate past president, now chairman of the federation's defense commission, with Mrs. Gannett, visited the various defense agencies in Washington, to study the role the federation should play in bolstering morale, and as a result the Federated Music clubs have accepted a definite responsibility from the government to assist in national defense.

Social events of the board meeting included a dinner at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, with President Philip Kyman and Mrs. Kyman as host and hostess. This was followed by a song recital in the Conservatory auditorium, with Mme. Maria Maximovitch, Russian-American soprano, as recitalist.

Among the important business was the decision to establish three scholarships in stringed instruments. The winners of these scholarships will study at the Stockbridge center which is maintained by the Berkshire association at Tanglewood, Mass. The federation will also build a studio at Tanglewood, a replica of Hawthorne's birthplace. This gift to the Berkshire association will further promote the objectives of the federation "to promote American music and American musicians, and to make America the music center of the world."

The federation will demand more American works on notable orchestra programs in the future, in order to strengthen American music. The board decided also to add another thousand dollar award for young artists, to the three standing awards in voice, violin and piano, making two distinct groups in voice, for young women and young men.

A recommendation that the federation commission the writing of an American opera for performance at the national convention in 1943 was adopted. For a number of years the federation has advocated opera in English. The federation is to emphasize American composition, American composers and American artists. The board voted to hold the national convention in 1943 at Detroit, Mich. Louisiana has the honor of having Mrs. Carruth Jones appointed a member of the program committee for the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leland Hunt of Leesville, La., announce the marriage of their daughter, Fay Evangeline, to Mr. William H. Norsworthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Norsworthy of Bastrop.

The civil ceremony was solemnized at the First civil registry at Monterey, Mexico, at 4 p.m., Thursday, September 11, and was followed by church service at the First Baptist Church of Monterey. Rev. Porfirio Garcia, pastor, officiated at the church ceremony.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thorne of Durango, Mexico, and Mr. David Le Breton, of Monterey, American vice-consul.

The bride, former member of the News-Star editorial department, is a graduate of Louisiana State University school of journalism. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rice Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Norsworthy will make their home in Maracaibo, Venezuela, where Mr. Norsworthy is a chemical engineer with Lago Petroleum Corporation.

Friends will be glad to know that the condition of Mr. J. C. Liner who is a patient at St. Francis Sanitarium, shows considerable improvement today.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Boardman have returned from Madison, Wis., having accompanied their daughter, Miss Joan Boardman, who enrolled in the freshman class at the University of Wisconsin.

CHIEF CLERK IS FOND OF SPORTS

Master Sergeant Lipp Has Past Record Of Which He Is Proud

Master Sergeant Henry Lipp, chief operations clerk of headquarters first provisional group, now stationed at Selman field, has had a long and interesting career in the army. He enlisted at Kelly field, Tex., in 1922 and has been stationed at several army air corps bases during the time he has been in service. Since October, 1940, his home base has been Savannah, Ga. Sergeant Lipp has had more than 19 years' experience in the air corps, most of it in an administrative or clerical capacity.

He was married in 1925 and his 15-year-old daughter, by strange coincidence, has the same birthday as has her mother.

Henry being a member of the "Old Army" really had to work for his promotions. He was advanced to staff sergeant during his first enlistment; made technical sergeant in 1939, and master sergeant during 1940, which is regarded as an enviable record. He is an expert aerial gunner and has well over 1,500 hours in the air to his credit, a good bit acquired before the Army adopted parachutes. When this record is considered, it is no wonder that Henry feels as much at home in the cockpit of a plane as in an easy chair at home.

As a sportsman and athlete, Henry has had plenty of experience. He played baseball for 14 years with nearly 10 of them on the mound. The rest of the time he could be seen most any place in the infield. He is rather proud, and with good reason, of a hard-fought no-hit, no-runner against the 13th bomb squadron then stationed at Galveston, Tex., which he pitched for the special troops in 1927.

When it comes to track, Lipp was to be seen way out in front on the dashes and relay races. Strangely he can still move faster than many young track aspirants.

Basketball is another of his achievements. He played and coached rather successfully with his company at Barksdale field from 1937 to 1939. His team played any and all and suffered defeat only to a crack squadron team.

The Monroe city golf course gave him a chance to brush up on his game a little and he knocked off a game in the middle 80's last Saturday, which in his opponent's opinion was a little too low.

As Master Sergeant Lipp, he may be quoted as saying that in over 15 years' maneuvers throughout the United States, he has yet to see a more friendly city than Monroe has shown herself to be.

The number of service stations in the United States has increased 146 per cent in the last 10 years.

AIR CADET HAS MUCH TO LEARN

Educational Qualifications For This Service Placed High

Educational qualifications for aviation cadets of the army air corps are maintained at a high level to insure that they will be able to learn, in a comparatively short time, the many things they must master before they can properly become air corps pilots, Staff Sergeant Harold McNemar said Tuesday, discussing the necessity of pre-training education.

"An aviation cadet has a lot to learn, and the more he knows before he starts absorbing what the army has to teach him, the easier it will be for him to assimilate all the technical problems of flying when they are presented to him," McNemar said.

"Ordinarily, a man is transformed from a civilian into an army pilot in about seven months. That's not long, considering the number of things he has to learn, so it's a great help if he knows something before he starts."

"A basic training airplane, which aviation cadets use to learn to fly, has 79 different gadgets on its instrument board. Every one of them is important to the operation of the plane and every one involves some intricate problem of flying.

"Take a thing called a 'radio compass oscillator dial.' Why, I don't even know what it is, and I doubt if you do. But an aviation cadet does. Besides, he knows what it is for, how it works, why it works. He can probably recite for you the basic scientific principle which gave the idea to the inventor.

"If it were only a matter of teaching a man to take a plane off the ground and set it back down again," McNemar continued, "it would be fairly simple to get pilot material and it wouldn't take long to make pilots, either. But it's not that easy. An aviation cadet has to know more than how to steer a plane. He has to know about the weather, for instance. Not just that some days it rains and some days it doesn't—but why. He has to know radio, inside and out. He's a technician as well as a pilot.

"That's why the air corps requires that aviation cadet applicants have completed their high school educations and, in addition, can pass examinations in certain other subjects which show that they have a fundamental knowledge which will enable them to grasp the things they will have to learn before they can fly for the army. Or, they may show they have college credits in those subjects or have completed two years of college education.

"The other requirements are simple enough. They must be between the ages of 20 and 26 years, inclusive, and in good physical condition. When the air corps takes them in, they're good men, all right, but when it finishes with them and places second lieutenant's bars on their shoulders and starts paying them $205.50 to $245.50 a month, they're the best," he concluded.

WHAT AVIATION CADETS DREAM ABOUT

ANTI-SEMITISM IS 'RED HERRING'

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The issue of anti-Semitism is a "red herring" in the controversy over the United States' policy toward war, says Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican, North Dakota.

Nye, speaking at a heavily-policed America First committee rally in Brooklyn, declared last night that "this attempt to paint the cause of non-intervention as an anti-Semitic cause has been about the meanest, smallest, rat-like thing that I have ever experienced in my contact with American politics."

"No one," he added, "has contributed to the dragging of this red herring into this controversy so largely as has one Wendell Willkie—the 'me too' man of the 1940 presidential campaign—the man who helped arrange things so that there could be no chance in that presidential campaign for the American people to voice themselves clearly and openly in this issue of intervention.

"Mr. Willkie has done his utmost to smear the cause of non-intervention with this anti-Semitic stick * * *."

Condemning anti-Semitism and all other forms of racial prejudice as un-American, Nye asserted that "the interventionists are doing the gravest kind of injustice to their country and especially to those of the Jewish faith when they persist in dragging this red herring into the controversy * * *."

Nye declared that from personal contact he knew "there is not a shred of anti-Semitic spirit in the mind and heart of Charles A. Lindbergh or of Senator Burton K. Wheeler," and added that his own record clearly was contrary to any such thing as anti-Semitism.

PLAY TRYOUTS START TUESDAY

Little Theater Group Planning Cast For Opening Production

Director Alonzo Smith, of the Monroe Little Theater, has announced that tryouts for the three-act comedy, "Ladies of the Jury," will be held at the Little Theater workshop, 307 North Second street, Tuesday at 8 p.m., and again on Thursday at the same place and hour. All persons interested in dramatic work or in stagecraft construction are cordially invited to be present. The cast requires 12 men and 10 women and contains many varied players of different ages and characteristics.

"Ladies of the Jury" will be presented late in October and will mark the opening of the 1941-1942 Little Theater season in Monroe and West Monroe.

The ticket sale was opened by the board of directors on Monday and present indications show that the enrollment will again exceed 1,000 members and that it may be necessary to curtail sales because of a lack of seating space at the local production centers.

Arrangements are now being sought whereby the plays can be produced in West Monroe and there have been requests from neighboring cities that the plays be brought there.

The local Little Theater was organized in 1931 and in its tenth year has become one of the strongest groups in the state. During the current season, plays have been chosen which will allow light comedy to lead the list, and local audiences are assured of new plots fresh from the professional theaters in the east.

Detailed information on the present tryouts can be had from the director, Lorenzo Smith, at the North Second street workshop.

SCOUTS TO BEGIN ON COLLECTION

Waste Material Desired For National Defense, Olan H. Black Says

Responding to the third call for services in the interest of national defense, Boy Scouts of the Ouachita Valley council will begin immediately to collect waste paper from homes in the Twin Cities and also throughout the parish.

The announcement was made yesterday by Olan H. Black, scout executive, who received a request from Chief Scout Executive James E. West that all scouts participate in the national waste paper conservation program as outlined by Leon Henderson, administrator of the office of price administration and civilian supply in the office for emergency management.

Previously, Valley Scouts aided national defense by distributing defense bond posters and easels and collecting scrap aluminum by a house-to-house canvass.

The scouts will collect magazines, books, newspapers and other waste material, and after proper assorting will sell the collection of paper to local dealers. The money the scouts collect will be turned over to their respective troops for new scouting equipment.

"It is urged," Mr. Black asserted yesterday, "that in the enthusiasm of publicizing the government's need for waste material, current publications should not be considered as waste material. A considerable service is rendered by the systematic collection of current magazines which are passed on to reading rooms and sent to various camps and old folks' homes, etc."

The scout executive said it could not be emphasized too strongly that the material desired is all types of waste paper material which have salvage value. He urged persons in the parish to search the attics of their homes and other storage places for accumulated waste material.

"There is a growing shortage," Mr. Black explained, "of paperboard boxes and containers so essential to package munitions, foodstuffs and a host of other items required for the defense program and civilian life.

"The principal item of raw material used in the manufacture of paperboard is waste paper. Supplies of waste paper are woefully short of the amount needed to maintain capacity production of paperboard.

"The situation is so serious that it is desirable for us to take heroic measures to speed up development of plans so that waste paper and other materials involved may be made available at once."

ARMY OPENINGS IN PANAMA AVAILABLE

Sergeant H. B. McNemar, local army recruiting officer, stated Tuesday that there are vacancies for the Panama canal department for single young white men who seek to travel and see the world. He said that a splendid opportunity was awaiting these young men to take up good trades at Uncle Sam's expense.

Vacancies for Panama are now open for infantry, field artillery, and coast artillery corps. The sergeant urges those interested to contact him at once as these vacancies will remain open only a few more days.

Frank Cleveland Powell, 21, of Hineston, and Vernon Cooper, Jr., 18, of Sterlington, enlisted Tuesday at Jackson for the air corps at Biloxi, Miss.

Louisiana Crucible

Here in Louisiana the acid test of free maneuvers in the field is being applied to the largest peacetime concentration in the history of the United States army, as nearly half a million men engage in simulated warfare.

This is the modern army's crucible—the stern process of proving an army in the field, weeding out the unfit on the basis of failures, discarding ideas proved to be faulty, advancing those officers who show superior ability with troops under conditions approximating those of actual warfare, selecting those tactics, weapons and organizational plans that work.

This is all mock warfare, it is true, and the perfect army will not emerge from the ordeal. Nevertheless, this finished product will undoubtedly constitute the most formidable army ever organized by the United States in peacetime and will be the match of any now in action anywhere.

A great deal has been said in disparagement of the morale of the army, its equipment and training. The simple truth of the matter is that the transformation of the nation's military establishment during the last year represents something in the nature of a military miracle.

Little more than a year ago the First Army maneuvers in Upper New York were staged by 100,000 untrained and poorly equipped civilian soldiers. Worse, the nation's three other field armies were similarly and generally untrained and ill-equipped.

Now there is an entirely different story. The army has gone far. Its men have been hardened in the field. Equipment, while still short of complete needs, is available in great volume and is the most modern and efficient now in service in any part of the world. What is most important is the superior quality of leadership being developed among younger men better adapted to the changed character of warfare.

In these uncertain and menacing times, the existence of these two armies in the south and the rest of the nation's armed forces—a total of 1,600,000 men in training—together with the world's greatest navy, is the best guarantee that the United States will not be involved in war.

Only in a moment of supreme rashness could Hitler risk the dangers of having this tremendous military force brought down upon his head. But if Hitler, in a moment of desperation, should yield to the rash impulse, this mighty army and the millions that could be mobilized if needed, would make certain that the nation survived.

Manhattan

NEW YORK—There is no magic formula for reading a play and predicting its success on the stage. If there were, all producers would be rich and there would never be any failures. A manuscript that looks like it can't miss frequently turns out to be sad fish behind the footlights, and you can verify this easily enough by counting the little white crosses on Broadway street corners that mark the spot where theatrical producers have guessed wrong.

Nevertheless this corner a few weeks ago got hold of a script by William Hazlitt Brennan called "The Wookey" and promptly went haywire to the extent of saying that it would turn into the first successful drama of the year.

"The Wookey's" premiere is Broadway history now and it does seem at this writing that it is on the way to being just that. There wasn't a dissenting vote among the critics. It's a play about an old codger who epitomizes John Bull. . . . He fights with Churchill and he fights with Hitler. . . . When he takes his tugboat and goes to Dunkirk, he makes it clear that he is going only to rescue his brother-in-law. That he brings back a sizable portion of the B. E. F. is beside the point. Later, they want to give him a medal, but he screams, "Hell, give me my boat back."

"The Wookey" has magnificent sound effects—an authentic air raid with all its attendant screams and bombs, recorded in London and brought over here. It's probably the closest thing to a real raid this little old town of New York will ever see, I hope, I hope, I hope . . .

At long last one of Broadway's great characters gets into the movies. . . . They are going to film the life of Tony Pastor. . . . Tony has been dead I don't know how many years, but his theater was the goal of vaudeville artists long before the Palace uptown became the vaudeville capitol of the world. Ask Eddie Cantor about Tony. Ask Al Jolson. . . .

Now Tony comes to life again, on the screen. Who will reap the real benefits of this plug? Why, Tony Pastor, of course. Not the Tony Pastor. . . . It's the young Tony Pastor, the band leader. . . . He isn't any kin to the original Tony. . . . As a matter of record, his real name is Tony Pastorino. . . . But, it will be pleasant seeing that name on marquees over the country, and hearing people pronounce it.

Entertainers naturally like to make as good a showing as possible, especially when pitted against their rivals. So it seems worthwhile to mention a little gesture on the part of Ed Sullivan, the columnist and vaudeville master of ceremonies, who was playing in opposition to Tommy Dorsey at the State on Broadway the other day. Dorsey was at the Paramount, just across the way. . . . It was a sort of special presentation for Dorsey that day, because it marked the day when the seven millionth customer had been drawn through the turnstiles since he has appeared through the seasons at the Paramount.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—In the Los Angeles newspapers today appeared ads for "Sergeant York"—ads that touched my sympathy. They read, very simply, "Too Big for Words."

Tch. Imagine the plight of that poor ad writer, who, for years, has been hurling superlatives at his company's product. Good, bad or indifferent, every picture had to be represented (or mis-represented) as "colossal," "sensational," "thrilling," "daring," stupendous" or breath-taking." No matter how boresome each new piece of film ground out of the Hollywood mill had to be crammed down the public throat—and he, the ad writer, had to proclaim it the most pulse-tingling, super-terrific in screen history.

Then, after years of wasting t.n.t. adjectives on trash, aling comes "Sergeat York"—a really great picture. Don't you see what I men? Can't you shed a tear for the feeling of complete futility that must have swept over that ad writer?

It's a "stupendous" production—but "stupendous" has been pinned on so many flops that it's become a meaningless word. It's "sensational" entertainment—but so, according to the ads, were dozens of cinematic duds that drove disappointed patrons from the theaters. "Epic," "gigantic," "titanic"—they've all lost their force through over-use.

And so, after hours, or days, of desperate brain-cudgeling, the ad-writer finally typed the pitiful line: "Too Big for Words."

Aesop had a story, thousands of years ago, to fit the irony of the situation. It was a story about a shepherd boy who cried "Wolf" too often.

What's news: Was the John T. Flynn-Jim Farley call on Leo Carrillo a move to persuade Carrillo to run for United States senate. . . . That house which rumor said Jeffrey Lynn was building for bride-to-be Margaret Hayes is actually a bachelor lodge at Big Bear Lake—and Miss Hayes is no longer his bride-to-be. . . . It's going to be a studio race to build new comedians Red (MGM) Skelton and Phil (Warners) Silvers to biggest stardom. . . . Arline Judge is erecting a 10-room "farm house" in Bel Air. . . . Tom Brown, who's finally dropped the torch he was toting for ex-wife Natalie Draper, is dancing cheek-to-cheek with June (new pretty) Horne. . . . Sight of the week: Margaret (speed fan) Sullavan motorcycling home from Universal, trailed by her limousine and chauffeur. . . . Columbia is dickering for Melvin Wald's original screen-ography of dance maestro Arthur Murray, with Fred Astaire No. 1 candidate for the name role.

Things they wish they hadn't said: Dolores del Rio (1934): "I am always amazed how quickly American girls can get over a broken romance. In my country, girls die for love." . . . Al Jolson (1928): "No more black-face for me. When I saw myself in 'The Singing Fool' and how good I look, I decided I wasn't ever going to sing 'Mammy' again." . . . Josef von Sternberg (1930): "I am going to retire. I have few more stories left in me and I am ready to take a long rest. I shall recommend that Marlene (Dietrich) direct, then." . . . Joan Crawford (1928): "The wedding ring! That's one thing I'll always be able to dodge. I know too much about it from studying other professional women who are married." . . . Helen Hayes (1934): "I'm one actress who is much happier working for the screen than in the theater. I have a profound respect for the movies."

ADOLESCENT BOYS ALWAYS HUNGRY

Father and mother had generous helpings of the stew and refused second helpings, but Bob took the second, the third and the fourth helping, and when no more was forthcoming, attacked the bread and butter with a gusto that brought a remonstrance from his mother. "Bob! You can't possibly need so much food. Don't be so piggy."

"But I'm hungry."

"You can't be hungry. When you came in from school you ate a plateful of cookies—a whole plateful, enough to do the family for a week, and you had two glasses of milk into the bargain."

"Yes, I know it, and I had an apple after that, but I'm hungry just the same. That's three hours ago. I have to eat, don't ?"

"You certainly do. But it's impossible for you to need so much food. Far too much. You don't mean to say that you are going to eat a second piece of pie on top of all you've had?"

The meal ended with Bob in a temper, vowing he would go somewhere else so that he could get enough to eat. His mother was close to tears in her anxiety about his health and her resentment of his back talk. "I'm sure no boy ever ate so much before," said she to father when they were alone and in quiet.

"I know one that did," said he. "That was this boy's father. I ate the house out. I remember one night when I had a battle with mother just as Bob had with you tonight. I remember every thing I ate that night and I remember how I wanted just that one slice more of bread and catsup that she wouldn't let me have.

"I had five big, thick slices of corned beef. Father cut them and he believed a hungry boy should be fed. Then I had eight big potatoes and about three-quarters of a head, a big head, of cabbage. To that I had mustard pickles, the kind that has everything from pickles to nuts in them, and I about emptied the dish. Nobody else wanted any. I spread catsup on my meat, piled it high, plastered it on with my knife. I could feel mother looking daggers at me, but I never felt so hungry in all my life and I ate right along. After I had eaten the platters bare I took two slices of bread. They were no thin slices, for the bread was homemade, and so was the butter. I piled on the butter and smoothed it with my knife and then piled on the catsup, emptying the pitcher. I made a sandwich and ate it before you could say Scat.

"I reached for more bread and mother said, 'Wait. You're going to have lemon pie.' I held my hand and ate my portion of pie. 'There is no more,' said mother to my plea for a second piece, whereupon I reached for the bread again and she objected again.

"But father passed me the bread and sent for more catsup, and I ate more of them both until I was satisfied. That's why tonight I voted for that second piece of pie. You can't imagine how empty a hungry boy of sixteen can be unless you've been one."

"Were you sick afterward?"

"Sick? I played a game of ball, fed four cows and cleaned the barn for the night, chopped kindlings and filled the woodbox and after I had done my homework for next day went to the house next door and boxed for a couple of hours. Then I got back home and raided the pantry.

"Healthy boys are hungry all the time. Just feed them and they'll be all right."

The 80 per cent of the world that is at war cannot understand why the United States doesn't have a nervous breakdown.

THE ULTIMATE DICTATOR OF NAZI WAR POLICY

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — Answering the mail orders:

T. K., McAlester, Okla.—There is only one horse-drawn artillery regiment left in the army—the 112th at Fort Bragg, N. C., and that is to be motorized before the end of the year. There are, however, still six horse-drawn battalions—three at Fort Sill, in your state, and three at Camp Ord, in California. There also are certain "horse artillery" units attached to the cavalry, but these are not the same as "horse-drawn artillery."

P. M. D., Portland, Ore.—The new age standards for commissioned officers (with limits ranging from 62 for major-generals to 30 for second lieutenants) does mean a weeding out, but there are several things that must be borne in mind. First, this applies only to officers serving with troops in the field. Thus, many over-age officers who are vigorous in health and particularly competent will be transferred to desk jobs. It does not apply to air force officers, chaplains or officers in the medical corps.

S. R., Madison, Wis.—The latest reported strength of the United States army in training and on duty was 1,580,775. Only 533,500 of these are in the regular army. The rest are national guard, reserves and trainees. The officers number close to 106,000 in all.

Mrs. H. F., Winchester, Tenn.—Men in training who were 28 years or older before July 1, 1941, do not have to complete a year of training to get out of the army if they request their release in writing from their commanding officers. This is a matter of law—not one of army policy.

Mrs. B. K., Trinidad, Colo.—I don't want to get into the thick of that argument about what encampment has the youngest "sky pilot." According to the latest records available here (they are not absolutely up to the last minute), the youngest is the Mormon chaplain, Lieutenant M. B. Widdison, at Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. While there are no ordained ministers in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, I am told that Lieutenant Widdison has been an elder for several years, which entitles him to his commission as chaplain. There are a generous number of army chaplains still in their twenties.

C. M., El Paso, Tex.—The federal bureau of investigation says there is a nation-wide drive going on now against bicycle accidents. It suggests that the agency which probably has done the greatest research in this field is the National Safety council, 20 North Wacker drive, Chicago. It is true that the increase in bicycle accidents in the country is serious, but the figures cannot be obtained here.

K. V., Salt Lake City—All right, sir, here is the item of which you are proud: Desert-bound Salt Lake City has jumped this year to second city in the country in per capita enlistments in the United States navy, with enlistments (for the first six months) of 122 men per 100,000 population; second only to Portland, Ore., which averaged 171 per 100,000. However Mr. V., Salt Lake and Portland and all the rest of the country have their work cut out from now on. The navy soon will launch its recruiting campaign to get personnel for 400 ships that are taking shape on the ways. The quota is 13,000 men a month to January 1 and 15,000 a month next year.

E. P. Norman, president and manager of the Richland Parish Fair, which opens to the public next Monday, telephoned the News-Star, soon after noon today, that all booths have been taken and that the exhibits are arriving rapidly. It is said that at no previous fair has there been such haste to secure space and display exhibits so far in advance of the opening day. Farmers are said to be coming in today from many miles distant from Rayville to display exhibits of their finest stock. On Tuesday, Monroe Day will be observed.

Wilfred Jupenlaz, of Morris Knowles, Inc., well-known firm of city planners of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Monroe last night in accordance with instructions from the city commission council to make a general survey of the city and environs. He said that Monroe seems to present unusual possibilities for the making of a "city beautiful." He noted with interest the charms of the Ouachita river and of the possibility of a magnificent north and south riverside drive. The courthouse attracted his attention and he said that it is one of the best examples of modern architecture that can be found anywhere. In conversation with News-Star representatives, he said that a civic center could well be made in the immediate environs of the court square, thereby emphasizing the beauty of the structure greatly. The giant water oaks of Monroe were among the local beauties that attracted his attention. He said that few southern cities possess such fine examples of towering trees of their particular type. Among the cities that Mr. Jupenlaz has recently done civic planning work for are the following: Canton, O.; Birmingham, Ala.; Deland, Fla.; Lorain, O.; Johnstown, Pa.; Cohoes, N. Y., and other cities.

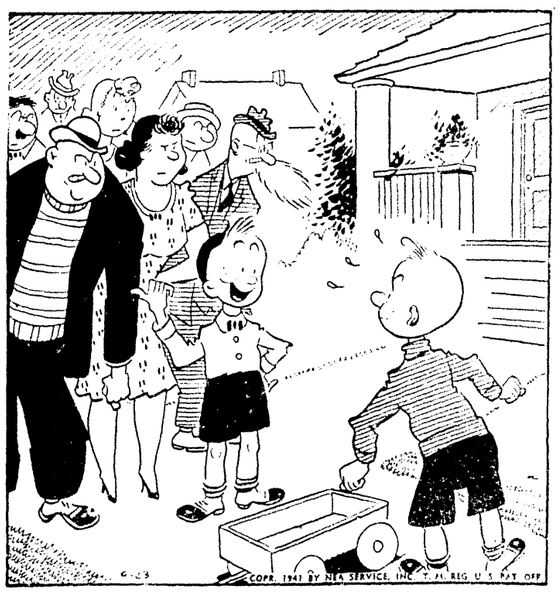
FUNNY BUSINESS



"Well, you said you could lick me and my whole family!"

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

YESTERDAY: Pam Quellerton is a native of Key West, which makes her a "conch." But to Pam the term is a compliment, for her family is as good as any that spend the winter in that gay city. And Jerry Winthrope may be a playboy, but now he is seriously in love with Pam, though Freda Barington, to whom he has been engaged for years, will not release him. She just has told him so.

Chapter Six

Insult

FRIEDA was on her feet and looking down at him.

"Lunch time," she said. "Coming?"

"Not just yet." Jerry didn't even watch her as she moved away.

Meanwhile, Pam had been busy all morning completing the largest bunch of violets she had ever made. They were lovely when she finally held out the finished bouquet to admire it. It would be perfect, she reflected, for Mrs. Winthrope's black chiffon dress. Pam had tried to do especially lovely work because they were to be a gift. Jerry's mother had been so sweet and gracious. It was still early afternoon when she stood at the desk of Casa Marina and asked for Mrs. Winthrope. The clerk telephoned and then turned to Pam.

"You may go right up," he said.

Pam followed a bellboy to the door of the Winthrope suite. Lenore opened the door.

"Oh, the little basket girl!" Lenore took the flowers. "How much are they?"

"They're a gift for Mrs. Winthrope," Pam said quietly.

"Just a minute." Lenore took the flowers and let Pam stand at the door. "For you, Mother!" She moved to a desk and picked up her purse, extracting a few silver coins, then went back to Pam.

"But I said it was a gift." Pam's words were clearly and quietly spoken.

The silver fell on the floor when Pam failed to put out her hand for it. A maid in the hall snickered and Mrs. Winthrope, coming to the door, looked at the coins and then at Lenore with something like reproof in her eyes. She had the flowers in her hand.

"Lenore! How could you!" Then to Pam: "Thank you, child. How lovely they are! How sweet of you! You've gone to a great deal of trouble for me. Won't you come in?"

"I'm so glad you're pleased." Pam's face lighted with pleasure. "And now I'll run along."

Mrs. Winthrope had seemed genuinely pleased. Pam had done something for Jerry's mother. That was enough for her.

"That Lenore's the high and mighty!" the maid said when the door of the Winthrope apartment was closed. "But aren't you going to pick up your money?"

"No, it isn't mine. It looks as if you can have it."

"Thank you!" The maid stooped swiftly to scoop up the coins and glanced after Pam as if she thought the girl had gone mad.

"Money on the floor," Pam heard her say, "and she dosn't even bother to pick it up."

But to Pam a gift was a gift. She wanted no return for it. . . .

In the suite at the hotel, Mrs. Winthrope, the violets still in her hand, turned to her daughter. Lenore was furious.

"Did you see what that little Conch girl did?" Lenore exclaimed. "Spurned my money! Made me ridiculous before that maid. Little beachcomber! Beach rat!"

Mrs. Winthrope was surveying herself in the mirror, holding the violets against her gown and finding the result pleasant to look at.

"Serves you right, Lenore," she replied. "I'm sorry to say it, dear, but that little girl didn't humiliate you at all. You did it yourself. You're altogether too high-handed. Use a little discrimination when you tip. You should have asked the girl in and treated her as a friend, not an errand girl."

"Mother! You'll talk differently when you find your son bringing you a Conch daughter-in-law!"

"That's What You Think!"

MRS. WINTHROPE turned sharply to the girl. "What do you mean, Lenore?" she demanded. "You know Jerry would never marry anyone but Freda. He's been in love with her for years. That was settled long ago. Jerry is only amusing himself."

"That's what you think!"

"Jerry's simply doing what every boy does. Flirting. It's harmless, I'm sure." She paused. "I only hope he doesn't hurt her, that she understands it's only a passing interest. She's such a sweet little thing. Pretty, too. I must speak to Jerry. Boys are so thoughtless sometimes."

"Passing interest? That's what you call it!"

"Jerry would never marry anyone but Freda. You know that, Lenore."

"Oh, I'm not saying he actually intends to marry this—this creature. But you can't tell. These little Southern girls aren't as dumb as you think. They know a good thing when they see it. She won't give Jerry up immediately, and his mother accepting gifts from her won't make it any easier for Jerry to pull out of the picture when the time comes. There may be conch shells in the Winthrope family yet!"

Adele Winthrope's eyes were doubtful as she looked at her daughter. "Well, what would you have me do? Return these flowers? Refuse to accept them?"

"I think you should. It would be the thing to do."

Adele hesitated only for an instant.

"I'm not going to. I don't see any point in hurting anyone when you don't have to. And they're beautiful. Quite unusual. I want to take them home with me."

Lenore shrugged. Adele Winthrope stared at her daughter thoughtfully.

"You have so much deviltry in you, Lenore, that sometimes I wonder how you ever happen to be your father's and my daughter. You're talking impossibilities. Jerry is a sensible boy."

"All right! Close your eyes. Refuse to see anything. But won't that be a sweet thing for Dad to face when he comes down? Conch in the Winthrope family! His ancestors will turn in their graves!" Lenore pulled on her beach coat and went out.

After she had gone, Adele Winthrope tried to dismiss the subject as too preposterous for consideration. Pam was a sweet little thing. She hoped nothing would happen that would make Pam unhappy. She must do something nice for her in return for the violets. And very soon. It had been so sweet of the child to do all that work for her.

But she surely needn't fear on the score of Jerry. He wouldn't do anything foolish. After all, he was a Winthrope. She paused a moment just there. Jerry wasn't all Winthrope. He was part Adele Blodgett. She lingered on the thought of the Blodgett girls in the little town of Shirley, Indiana.

Their father had been superintendent of the creosote plant. Their home had been a big comfortable one with plenty of food; all of the necessities, but not many frills. Adele had been the youngest of five girls in a family that had been motherless since her birth. Their father's maiden sister had tried to take the place of their mother, but had never been too successful at it.

A mist gathered in Adele's eyes. She had been fond of her father. As fond as he gave her opportunity to be. They had never taken time to understand each other very well. That was the old way. She was glad Jerry and Lenore regarded her as one of them and spoke to her as such. They might, with their modern young casualness, seem a trace disrespectful sometimes. But they understood each other and there was a deep and abiding love that bound them together.

It was after Tom Blodgett's death, which came after the other four girls had married and Matilda had passed on to her reward, that Adele went to New York and did the thing she had always wanted to do—get a job singing in a restaurant of prewar elegance. There she met handsome Bart Winthrope. All of the fine old Winthropes had been a little shocked when Bart brought his bride home.

But she had won them over. It was probably some last vestige of Matilda that had helped her do that.

Party

THAT night Edmund Antoine gave the supper which paid his bet to Jerry. It had to be late, after he had finished his work at Casa Marina. There were twelve couples at dinner, with a great many more invited in for dancing afterwards.

Antoine had spared nothing. He wanted to make the event something to be remembered, and she looked about the place. Pam, dancing with Jerry, felt that all of the flowers in Key West had been cut for the party and were scenting the air.

Outside Pena's the piazzas and garden were softly lighted with what looked like subdued orange lanterns, but which really were holiday lights after the old Indian custom—just brown paper bags with about three inches of sand in them to form a base and a short candle lighted and standing upright in the sand. The bags were tied at the top.

"The Indians do it in New Mexico," Jerry explained. "to light the way for the coming of Christ Child at Christmas. Isn't it beautiful?"

"Oh, it is! It's lovely! Lovely!" exclaimed Pam.

There was a fay quality about her, Jerry thought, looking down at her. All of her bright young beauty was pointed up by her happiness. Others, besides Jerry, had observed it, and he was having trouble with cut-ins.

"You're too popular," he said to her as one claimed her. "I'll have to do something about it!"

Pam smiled back at him. A girl standing next to Freda said:

"Look, all the rest of us have to work like coal heavers to get and hold a little attention. What's she got that we haven't?"

"Oh, they're just hitching their old wagons to a new star!" Freda said lightly. "It doesn't mean anything."

"That's what you think! It means the difference between a good time and a dull one. I'd like to scalp her!"

FREIGHT ENGINE HITS FAST TRAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A heavy freight engine, running without cars, collided head-on with the crack Western Pacific exposition flyer in a terrific crash some 40 miles west of here late last night. Three trainmen died and 10 other persons, seven of them passengers, were injured.

Engineer Frank Huff and Fireman A. A. Lown, both of Oakland, were crushed and burned to death in the flyer's engine. Oscar Lane, 62, of Oakland, baggage man of the flyer, died later in a hospital.

The roadbed was torn up for 300 feet, the rails bent like hairpins and the engines a tangled mass of smoking steel. Two cars were derailed and the flyer's baggage car was demolished.

1,000 OFFICERS TO HEAR WHAT'S WRONG

By Rice Yahner

WITH THIRD ARMY, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A thousand officers, who have directed the greatest peacetime force of American soldiers ever placed in the field, were summoned today to Camp Polk to hear the man who has headed the training program of the new army explain what was wrong in the first week's war game between the Second and the Third armies.

The lecturer was Lieutenant-General Lesley J. McNair, chief of the army general headquarters staff, who wastes few words. Through the year he has visited camp after camp, checking the instruction of the million-odd men who have been enlisted or inducted into national service.

The war department has frankly said that the status of most field officers would depend on their records in the fall maneuvers. Already scores have resigned because of the prospect of reclassification and others have been reshuffled to job that do not involve field leadership or tactical ability.

The official critique on the first five-day maneuver of the Louisiana war games was restricted to comparatively few officers of the Second and Third armies. It was not open to the press but General McNair scheduled a press confere e to supplement prepared remarks.

Already the maneuver, in which the Second army commanded by Lieutenant-General Ben Lear ended virtually trapped by the Third army led by Lieutenant-General Walter Krueger, had been discussed in staff meetings over the week-end.

Meanwhile the half million men participating in the vast field exercises enjoyed a cool, gusty night on the fringe of a tropical storm that swung from the gulf into Texas west of the maneuver area. Wind velocity at times reached 40 miles an hour and some tents were blown down.

freighter Montana was torpedoed in the same location. The Montana was American-owned but of Panamanian registry.

Like the Sessa and Montana, the Pink Star was a former Danish vessel. All three were among the fleet of some 80 foreign vessels taken over by the maritime commission recently under special legislation and returned to the sea lanes after months of war-bound idleness in American ports.

The Pink Star, however, bore a cargo destined for a British port, whereas the other two ships were carrying civilian supplies to Iceland. The ship, a 6,850-tonner, had no American citizens in her crew.

Under the neutrality act, the freighter would have been prohibited from entering the combat zone around Britain with an American crew and an American flag at her masthead. However, her transfer to the registry of Panama and the shipping of an alien crew enabled her to carry cargoes to the war zone.

The state department last night made public a sworn statement by First Mate Bierregard of the Sessa which told of the torpedo attack when it was "fairly dark—deep twilight but not faint darkness" and which said that "I do not believe the submarine could have made out the ship's markings."

Bierregard, one of three survivors of the Sessa's crew of 27, told how he was in the engineer's cabin when the torpedo hit. En route to his office door, he said he heard a shot strike the bunker house and another hit the bridge.

The American-owned Robin Moor, like the Sessa, also was shelled after a torpedo hit her May 21 in the South Atlantic.

NOMINATE N. J. C. CHEER LEADERS of how much their 1941 federal taxes will be under the new law.

In a nutshell, this is what the new law does: It reduces the exemptions of married citizens from $2,000 to $1,500 and of single persons from $800 to $750. It retains the regular tax rate of 4 per cent for net incomes but sharply increases the surtax rate, which now begins at 6 per cent on the first $2,000 of net income. The old 10 per cent earned income credit is still allowed against the normal 4 per cent tax, but not in computing surtaxes.

The tax collectors remind that nearly six months still remain before the first installment is due next March, and that by proper planning now, small sums for tax payments can be laid away in a savings bank or in United States treasury notes of the tax series.

The government further reminds that for people without ready cash for complete 1941 tax payments when March 15 rolls around, the paying of the tax in four quarterly installments is possible. No interest is charged on unpaid balances under the quarterly installment plan, provided the installments are paid promptly on or before the March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15 due dates.

RUSSIAN PUTS ENEMY LOSSES AT 3,000,000

President Roosevelt had said the act would be as liable to get the United States into war as to keep it out.

A Berlin spokesman said that no German U-boats or other overseas raider had specifically reported the sinking of the S. S. Pink Star but that messages had been received telling of sinkings out of a big convoy.

Washington observers saw the incident—the first sinking of an American-owned vessel since Mr. Roosevelt's sink-on-sight order September 11—as a possible open challenge to America's newly-defined doctrine of the freedom of the seas.

"The ship was sunk in waters clearly defined as a German operations area," the Nazi spokesman said.

In the Russian campaign, advices reaching London said the Red armies were successfully pressing counter-attacks in a new sector, around Glukhov, in the northwest Ukraine 140 miles southeast of Gomel.

The fighting here was described as separate from Soviet counter-blows in the Smolensk sector, 230 miles to the northwest, and possibly indicated an attempt to rescue the four battered Red armies trapped 125 miles east of Kiev.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, said in a front-line dispatch that Red troops hurled back from the Dnieper river were fleeing in disorder, without artillery, toward a new defense line on the east bank of the Don river.

If true, this would mean a huge-scale retreat and the abandonment of the great Donets river industrial basin.

Stefani added that Red army prisoners reported the Soviet command was sending reserve units southward from the Moscow area as well as from the Don and Volga zones to bolster a new defense front.

The news agency quoted prisoners as saying that Marshal Semeon Budyenny, commander-in-chief of the Ukraine forces, had been relieved of his command and temporarily replaced by Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, who commanded the central front.

Marshal Timoshenko is credited by the Russians with smashing the main German onslaught toward Moscow, hurling the Nazi invaders back after they had advanced far beyond Smolensk on the Napoleonic road to the Soviet capital.

Hitler's field headquarters, in a special bulletin on the fighting east of Kiev, said German troops slashing into four entrapped Russian armies had already captured 576 tanks, 2,100 guns and great stores of other war booty.

The encircled Reds, it was asserted, are rapidly dissolving and "at many points officers and commissars of the Soviets left their troops."

Authoritative military quarters in London, acknowledging that the Soviet armies in the south faced "an uglier situation" than ever before in the 94-day-old struggle, declared nevertheless that a more optimistic outlook was developing on the northern front.

Around Leningrad, the British said, the situation was not unfavorable and north of Leningrad, on the Karelian isthmus, the Russians were said to be holding the German-allied Finns on approximately the line of the pre-1940 frontier.

In the Ukraine, the British admitted that the Russians might find difficulty in withdrawing sufficient forces from the Kiev area to re-establish defenses before Kharkov and Rostov.

Sinking of the American-owned freighter Pink Star south of Iceland stirred international speculation today as the first reported incident of the type since President Roosevelt issued shoot-first orders against German and Italian raiders September 11.

A German spokesman in Berlin, advised that the state department in Washington had announced the 6,850-ton vessel went down last Friday, said: "Sorry, nothing is known here."

The Pink Star, owned by the United States maritime commission but operating under the flag of Panama, was bearing a cargo consigned to a British port on her final voyage and she went to the bottom in the same zone proclaimed by President Roosevelt to be American "defensive waters"—as the American-owned freighters Sessa and Montana.

How she was sunk, however, and the fate of her crew of 34 were not disclosed.

While attention thus was focused on Atlantic supply lines, a three-power conference neared in Moscow on Soviet Russia's needs for her war against Germany, now in its fourth month.

The Russian government announced last night that British and United States missions, to confer with a seven-man committee headed by Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, had arrived "in territory of the U. S. S. R." The conference is prepared to expedite the flow of British and American war materials—tanks, planes, guns and oil—to supplement Russian supplies.

Of the fighting, the Soviet information bureau said that nearly six German infantry battalions, perhaps 3,500 men, had been annihilated in a five-day battle on the central front, the scene of many Red army counter-attacks.

Defense forces were said also to have killed 400 Germans on the central front—whether in the same action was not stated—and 600 Rumanian infantrymen in the southern struggle.

Advices from Sofia to Ankara, Turkey, told of new emergency measures there and of fresh German troop concentrations in Bulgarian ports, and Turkish observers said these developments strengthened belief that Bulgaria would be drawn into the war.

The Soviet government denied in a statement issued through Tass that Russians had landed in Bulgaria by parachute or from a Black sea submarine, as charged in Sofia.

In the British-German air war, Berlin said German bombers sank an 8,000-ton merchantman off England during the night. The British said only a single plane attacked Britain and caused only slight damage and no casualties.

Oriental interests were centered generally upon Russia.

The Tokyo newspaper Kokumin declared the possibility that German advances might close the Iran supply route to Russia and make Vladivostok the principal port of entry for outside aid caused the three-power conference in Moscow to assume added importance in Japanese eyes. Japanese islands form a semi-circle about Vladivostok.

A Bangkok dispatch of the Japanese newspaper Nichi Nichi reported that 30,000 British soldiers with mechanized equipment, part of a Malaya force which the Domei news agency estimated at from 65,000 to 85,000 men, had been concentrated along the Thailand frontier. The nation of 15,000,000 has common frontiers with both Japanese-penetrated French Indo-China and British Burma as well as British Malaya.

Peiping advices from Manchukuo indicated the Japanese were continuing preparations there for possible hostilities despite the lateness of the season, which foreign military men said should make a Japanese invasion of Siberia unlikely.

Troop movements were reported toward the Russian frontier and air-raid precautions were increased in Manchukuo cities.

Even in this military atmosphere, however, a prosaic detail of the Japanese penetration of the continent remained to be cleaned up. A Domei dispatch from Harbin said Outer Mongolian delegates arrived last night for the final meeting of the Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia border delineation commission.

Thus officials admitted it would be many months before the United States would have an air force "as large as it is good," and the time will be lengthened if it becomes necessary to send larger percentages of planes abroad.

Officials said that in Louisiana they had been especially impressed with the speed with which fighter pilots got their planes into the air from water-logged fields and the ease with which they brought them in again to safe landings.

Heavy bombers, they said, operated from muddy tracts over which it was impossible to move supply trucks, yet the planes were so maneuverable and the pilots so skilled in handling them they took off and landed without difficulty.

Tricycle landing gear on the most modern, high-speed pursuit ships were described as making the landing of those ships almost foolproof even though they touch ground at speeds around 100 miles per hour.

Some types of planes sent into Louisiana were put into immediate production only a few months ago. Thus, prior to maneuvers, they had been in service but a few weeks and their flying time was measured in hundreds rather than thousands of hours.

would vote on a resolution authorizing a general strike referendum.

The International Longshoremen's union meanwhile strove for a quick settlement of the dispute between the Alcoa Steamship company and the S. I. U. Joseph P. Ray Ryan, I. L. U. president, said that "allegiance to the government compels" longshoremen to handle cargoes where non-union crews were being used.

The commission has requisitioned three strike-bound Alcoa freighters, two of which have sailed with government-recruited crews.

At San Diego, A. F. L. machinists, announcing the strike vote, said that a conference with Major R. H. Fleet, president of Consolidated Aircraft corporation, had failed to settle the union's demand for a flat 10-cent-an-hour wage increase for workers not covered by a minimum pay raise for beginners.

W. J. Chudleigh, president of the local of the International Machinists, and George Castleman, international vice-president, predicted that there would be a walkout among the 23,000 workers if the company did not grant the blanket increase.

Increased pay, improved sleeping accommodations, and a one-week vacation were sought by representatives for 300,000 A. F. L. truck drivers as negotiations for a new contract November 15 began at Chicago.

The threat of a strike among bus drivers in seven western states ended when A. F. L. drivers' union officials reported overwhelming acceptance of a new contract granting increases of five cents an hour, improved working conditions and paid vacations.

In the coal fields, one anthracite union in the Wilkes-Barre area reported its members had decided to return to work despite appeals from other workers who are protesting increased United Mine Workers of America (C. I. O.) dues and assessments.

Although companies having U. M. W. contracts usually deduct such charges from workers' pay envelopes, the Lehigh Navigation Coal company said in a statement that it would not collect assessments because "our obligation" to do that was "not quite as clear to us as the question of dues."

HENDERSON WOULD HALT WAGE HIKES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson told congress today that voluntary agreements to prevent wage increases were "the next step" in the administration's effort to avert inflation.

Testifying before the House banking committee on the administration's price control bill, Henderson said such agreements with labor were not only feasible but "highly likely."

Henderson told the committee that despite the broad powers held by the British government to regulate both wages and prices, there was "much more reliance placed on voluntary understandings there than on the law."

BIRDS CAN GAIN FULL GAME ON IDLE BROOKLYN

St. Louis Now One And One-Half Contests Behind Dodger Squad

By Sid Feder
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

There is a guy named Frankie Frisch in the National league, known up and down the senior circuit as "Onkel Franz."

Now, Onkel Franz doesn't care much for Leo the Lip Durocher who manages the Brooklyn Dodgers. Onkel Franz said as much when he was boss man of the St. Louis Gas House Gang and Leo the Lip was just a St. Loo hired hand.

Well, Leo the Lip and his Dodgers had a game and a half edge over St. Louis this morning as the Cards moved into Pittsburgh for a four-game series with Onkel Franz's Pirates in the tightest National league race in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Here is the way the race sizes up today:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.	Games to Play
Brooklyn	97	53	.647	4
St. Louis	94	53	.639	6

Onkel Franz, if he so desired, really could make it softer for the Cards, than he would for the Gowanus gallants, but the old Flash is still playing up the hilt showing no favorites. He has nominated Ken Heintzelman as his elbower in the first game of a twin bill with the Cards this afternoon and Ken has given the warriors from St. Louis plenty of trouble. In his last four starts against the Cards, he has broken even, holding them to 14 runs while his guys scored 13. In the nightcap it will be Truett Sewell or Bob Klinger, either of whom can make it plenty tough for the Cards.

The Dodgers are idle today after adding a half game to their margin yesterday with a 5-0 trimming of the Phillies as the Cards had an open date. Curt Davis curve-balled the Phils into submission with a six-hit job, but it was close until the sixth inning when Frank Melton softened up and the Brooklyns poured four runs across to put the game on ice.

The only other action in the National league found the New York Giants splitting a twin bill with the Boston Braves. King Carl Hubbell served a steady nine-hitter in the opener for a 5-3 decision. Phil Masi's ninth-inning two-bagger enabled the Braves to break a tie and cop the nightcap, 2-1.

One of two games on the curtailed American league card saw the 1940 champions, the Detroit Tigers, move into a fourth-place tie by mowing down the Chicago White Sox, 11-0, with Alton Benton and Luther Thomas combining in a six-hit job and the Tigers clawing three hurlers for 18 hits.

Johnny Niggeling blanked the succumbing beauties from Cleveland with seven hits for a 5 to 0 St. Louis victory. Niggeling ran right through the Tribe with seven hits, as the Browns, after landing on Bob Feller for four runs in the first frame, coasted in to hand the Iowa elbower his 13th setback of the year against 24 victories.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By Associated Press)

Johnny Niggeling, Browns—blanked Indians, 5-0, with seven hits.

Curt Davis, Dodgers—tossed six-hitter to shut out Phillies, 5-0.

Alton Benton, Tigers—shut out White Sox with five hits in seven-inning performance.

Carl Hubbell, Giants and Phil Masi, Bees—Hubbell pitched nine-hit ball for 5-3 opener victory; Masi's ninth-inning double drove in winning run for 2-1 nightcap decision.

NEVILLE TIGERS GET NEW PLAYS

'Model T' Offensive Gets Brushing Up For Oak Grove Tilt Friday

The Neville High school Tigers yesterday began adding a few new plays to their "Model T" offensive in preparation for their Class A conference opener with the Oak Grove High school Tigers here Friday night at Neville stadium.

The additional plays are designed to catch opponents flatfooted, and Coach Percy Brown indicated they would be used sparingly. The "T" formation, used successfully by Stanford university last year, is being tried for the first time at Neville. However, it's not new to this section. While high schools of this area haven't used such an offensive in years it is recalled that Coach "Blue" Hogg's Rayville team used such a formation when the Hornets were a Class B power a dozen years ago.

Although Neville is favored to win over the West Carroll parish eleven, the Oak Grove eleven is considered one of the best the school has boasted in years and displayed potential air power last week when the Tigers completed ten of twelve passes for a net gain of 100 yards against Eudora, Ark. The Eudora game, however, was a heart-breaker for Oak Grove. The West Carroll aggregation rolled up 15 first downs but couldn't score and lost 6 to 0.

Coach Brown gave his charges a long workout yesterday, stressing fundamentals, and a lengthy scrimmage is on tap for today.

Wednesday's work will deal chiefly with pass defense to meet Oak Grove's aerial assault.

The local squad was reported in good condition and, unless injuries crop up during workouts this week, will be at its full strength for the invaders.

Thus far the same faces that dominated the Neville lineup in the season's first two games are still in the starting lineup, but the work of LeRoy Brown, second string guard, has showed noticable improvement and Regular Guards Hugo Moss and Franklyn Rivers are being put on the spot. At the rate Brown is going Moss or Rivers are going to step down unless they do some improving themselves.

Moss and Rivers are capable guards, however, and it is a healthy situation and one desired by coaches when second string players can be found that can push the regulars to their utmost.

JUNIORS SUMMONED

Candidates for the Neville High school Juniors' football team have been summoned to report to Coaches Percy Brown and Bill Ruple tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for their initial workout.

Coach Ruple will have charge of the Junior Tigers when they open their season about two weeks hence, but Coach Brown will divide his time between the Neville varsity and the Tiger Cubs until school opens October 6. Coach Ruple has scheduled six games for the Juniors, two each with Columbia, Bastrop and Ruston.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Gloom along the Gowanus dept.: The Yanks haven't got their pitching rotation settled for the world series, but otherwise they're beginning to pick up speed. . . . Bill Dickey could set a record today by catching his 100th game of the season, making 13 consecutive years he's done it. . . . And the Yanks need only five more double plays to tie the league record. . . . Red Rolfe expects to get back into harness this week and Charley Keller is trotting around the park every morning trying to strengthen his ankle. . . . Wonder how the Dodgers felt yesterday watching the Phillies holler at the umps and having to admit that them hums in the blue suits might occasionally be right? . . . The Dodge Airs, Brooklyn fan organization has chartered three planes to fly to Boston, where they hope to see their boys clinch. . . . The Cards left Johnny Mize behind to have his injured shoulder treated when they headed for Pittsburgh. . . . Joe Louis, who seems more interested in the world series than his fight with Lou Nova, maintains: "The Yankees will take care of 'em in the world series."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

B. M. Atkinson, Jr., Louisville Times: "If it's true what a magazine recently tried to prove, Lou Novikoff doesn't mind a curve. But he has a helluva time with optical illusions being thrown at him."

CLEANING THE CUFF

Ballyhoo for the Louis-Nova fight compares it with the first Dempsey-Tunney affair, but the only similarity this department can see is that it might rain. . . . The Dapper Dan club collected $3,582.82 from last week's fight show in Pittsburgh, which makes $18,604.63 the club has earned for charitable work in its five years of existence. . . . Of the last 14 captains and co-captains of North Carolina University football teams, only three have come from the Tar Heel state and eight from Pennsylvania. . . . Morris Sachs of Hibbing Minn., rises in wrath to say that George Perpich, the Georgetown tackle, didn't work in a Michigan iron mine last summer. . . . Sachs wants it known that whatever weight Perpich gained should be credited to the mines in George's own home town, Hibbing. . . . Joe Benda, who used to help Elmer Layden at Notre Dame, took over at St. John's College of Minnesota this year, and the largest crop of freshmen in history reported. . . . Paul Maher of Harlingen, Tex., warns all hands not to overlook Bob Brumley of Rice in lining up all-America prospects. . . . Bill Chadwick, new big league hockey referee, is a page at the New York Stock Exchange and got his start at calling 'em when he followed the exchange brokers to West Point for a game and was pressed into service as a linesman.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

Leo Durocher: "That fella in St. Louis wanted me to take a picture with Southworth. I turned him down. So he says 'If you get into the world series, will you use McCarthy?' Would I? I'd throw my arms around him if the photographers wanted. I'd stand on my head. Boy, would I!"

LAST LAUGH

The first football game of the season at Cassopolis, Mich., resulted in a forfeit when Mattawan, the visiting high school couldn't collect a team because of the grape harvest. . . . We've heard of some strange things at football games caused by the products of the grape harvest but they usually took place in the stands, not on the field.

The Indians and Tigers are only a half game behind the White Sox in third place.

The Tigers slaughtered Bill Dietrich, Johnny Humphries, and Pete Appleton in an 18-hit attack. Al Benton and Luther Thomas yielded only six. Birdie Tebbetts paced the Detroit assault with two doubles and a triple.

BROWNS BLAST FELLER

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The hapless Cleveland Indians slipped into a tie for fourth place Monday, dropping a 5 to [illegible] decision to the St. Louis Browns in their final home game of the season.

Only about 1,500 fans saw the Browns hand Bob Feller his 13th defeat and the Tribe its second straight shutout.

Johnny Niggeling kept Cleveland's seven hits—five of them scratches—well scattered. His teammates teed off on Feller for four hits which were good for as many runs in the first inning. One blow was a two-run homer by Joe Grace.

EUROPEAN HEAVYWEIGHT DECISIONS BUDDY SCOTT

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Cuadio Villiar, 199, of Spain, who lays claim to the heavyweight title of Europe, won a judges' decision over Buddy Scott, 183, of Washington, D. C., in a 10-round bout here Monday night.

Scott entered the ring a light favorite but the Spaniard's in-fighting won him the decision.

Pitching To Be Uncertain Factor In '41 World Series

Yanks Have Mystifying Mound Staff; Card, Dodger Situations Vary

By Judson Bailey

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Pitching is 75 per cent of any good ball game and is 90 per cent of a World Series—but for the classic opening next week it is the 100 per cent incalculable factor.

Nobody knows what team, let alone what pitchers, will represent the National league. And even though the American league champions, the New York Yankees, have had weeks to prepare, they still will bring up one of the most mystifying pitching staffs ever to get into a series.

The Yanks won their fifth pennant in six years without a pitcher winning 20 games. They won their championship because they had the best rounded pitching staff in the league, with seven or eight starting pitchers, and because two old warhorses, Charles (Red) Ruffing and Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, became the most certain winners in the junior circuit when given enough rest.

Ruffing and Gomez each has won 15 games and Ruffing, who has been beaten five times to his sidekick's four, will be the pitcher for New York in the opening game of the series.

Each of these veteran stars has pitched in six previous series contests. Ruffing won five and lost one while Gomez never has been licked.

Gomez has started 22 games and finished only eight. Ruffing has finished only 13 out of 22. Gomez' average route has been seven innings and Ruffing's eight.

In any event neither of these hurlers is likely to get into more than one game unless the series goes the limit and possibly not even then. This puts more importance on the secondary staff of the Yanks than on any series team in years.

Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, Lefty Marius Russo, Atley Donald and Ernie Bonham, in about that order, would be Manager Joe McCarthy's starting selections for the other games with Johnny Murphy, Norman Branch, Steve Peek, Marvin Breuer and Charley Stanceu held for relief.

Murphy is one of the best relief pitchers in the business and has been on four previous World Series teams. He will be the workhorse of the Yanks and before you figure to beat Ruffing or Gomez, you must figure to beat Murphy—and sometimes that is tough.

What all this narrows down to is this: The Yanks need eight men to do the work of five, but seem to be able to get their goal accomplished and there is no reason to doubt that their pitching in the World Series will be adequate, although probably not spectacular.

The National league teams present a different proposition. The Brooklyn Dodgers have the circuits two leading winners in Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe, each of them victors in 21 games already. But the St. Louis Cardinals have a better balanced staff.

If the Dodgers make the grade, Wyatt is the obvious choice for the first game with Higbe, Fred Fitzsimmons and Curt Davis probably taking the next turns.

Higbe is a "rubber-armed" young man who can and may work every day during a series, alternating as a starter and reliever. He also is a very unpredictable young man who could either be the hero or the goat. Some days he can't be touched and other days he can't touch the plate. Wyatt is more likely to reach magnificent heights.

The Dodgers have one excellent relief pitcher in Chubby Hugh Casey, who is just as capable as Murphy. They also have picked up a couple of castoffs recently, Johnny Allen and Lefty Larry French, who are likely to be used in the series. Allen, on the basis of two good performances in the heat of the present pennant strife, even might get a chance to start.

The big weakness of the Brooklyn mound staff is that French is the only southpaw. This is the strength of the St. Louis staff. The Redbirds have Ernie White, probably the best lefthander in either major league this year, Howard Pollet, the sensational rookie, and Max Lanier, all of them skillful.

The Yankee batting order is heavy with lefthanders — Keller, Henrich, Dickey, Rolfe, et al, and good southpaws are priceless for such a series. White has won 17 games and Pollet has captured five out of six since joining the club last month. Howard Krist is a good relief worker with 10 victories and no defeats.

In addition the Cards have good righthanded hurlers—the Veteran Lon Warneke, Mort Cooper and Harry Gumbert. Warneke, who pitched a no-hit game at Cincinnati recently, has won 17 times and Cooper, who was out for a spell because of an elbow operation, has won 13. These two righthanders would pair with White and Pollet for starting services in the series.

Wyatt has the best shut out record with six to his credit, two more than Davis, Chandle rand Warneke. White has pitched three no-run games and Pollet, two while Ruffing and Gomez have only two each to their credit.

STATE COACHES LAUD OPPONENTS

Dawson And Moore Play Up Power Of Boston College And Holy Cross

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Coaches of Louisiana's two major football teams, both of which meet rivals from Massachusetts Saturday, took their opponents' power before the Monday Quarterbacks' club.

"Boston college has another good team that is apt to run up 27 points on anybody," declared Coach Lowell Dawson of Tulane in answer to a query whether the Eagles would beat Tulane here Saturday as badly as they did last year—27-7.

"Our boys are in better shape mentally than they were last year. Before we played Boston college it was hard to convince them they faced a hard game. They know better now."

Dawson said Jim Thibaut, his "human tank" fullback, and Walter McDonald, his ace blocking back, were doubtful starters Saturday. Thibaut injured his leg in scrimmage and McDonald hurt his back in pass defense last week.

Coach Bernie Moore of Louisiana State said he expected a much harder game from Holy Cross at Baton Rouge Saturday night than last season when his Tigers scored a 25-0 upset.

"Holy Cross is bound to be good," he said. "Last season they had 24 sophomores and a line averaging 210 pounds from end to end. They're all juniors now and bound to be better. They're big, rugged and have plenty of speed. Their backs came along near the end of the season and it was a much better team that faced Boston college than we played."

Asked how his sophomore sensation Sulcer Harris compared to "Pinky" Rohm, flashy back of a few years ago, Bernie replied:

"You have to see a boy in two or three games before you can determine his mental poise and his physical ruggedness in real competition. Harris is a fine prospect and we hope he comes through for us."

Moore said Bernie Lipkis, his senior center from New Orleans, was "one of the great centers of the country," and that Joe Giacone, sophomore scatback, gave promise of developing into a fine passer.

Davis Hurls Brooklyn Club To 5-0 Victory Over Philadelphia

By Ted Meier.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Curt Davis curve-balled the Phillies into submission 5 to 0 Monday to put the Brooklyn Dodgers 1 1-2 games ahead of the idle St. Louis Cardinals in the red hot National league pennant race.

While Davis kept six Philly hits well scattered and did not permit any enemy runner to reach third, the Dodgers jumped on Frank Melton for four big runs in the sixth and coasted in with an easy shutout victory.

A crowd of 8,434, making a three-day total of 62,147, saw the Dodgers finish the week-end series with a 4-games to one edge and chalk up their 17th victory in 20 starts against the Phils this season.

About the only excitement Monday, other than when eight Brooklyn players batted in that big sixth, came in the second inning when the Phils protested that Peewee Reese's single over third which scored Ducky Medwick with the first Dodger tally, had been foul.

The Phils lost the argument, of course, but the dispute led to Heinie

DODGERS ADD HALF GAME TO LEAGUE LEAD

Mueller, utility infielder, being chased off the Phils' bench by Umpire Beans Reardon in the bottom half of the inning.

Medwick was on third by virtue of his two bagger and Cookie Lavagetto's infield out when Reese came to bat. Merrell May fielded Peewee's tap near the bag and insisted it was in foul territory. Umpire Jocko Conlan saw it otherwise, although May, aided by catcher Ben Warren, beefed vigorously.

For the next three innings Melton kept on even terms with Davis, but in the sixth the Brooks chased over their four big runs to sew up the game.

Billy Herman, showing no effects of the leg injury that forced him out of the double header Sunday, started things off by slamming a double off the left field wall. Danny Murtaugh made a diving stab for Pete Reiser's pop toward second, but the ball fell out of his glove and went for a single, Herman holding second.

Dolph Camilli slapped a double into right, scoring Herman. Medwick was purposely walked to fill the bases, but Lavagetto spoiled this strategy by dumping a Texas leaguer into right to score Reiser and Camilli. Melton's wild pitch let Medwick reach third and then Reese brought him home with the last Brooklyn tally on a long fly.

GIANTS, BRAVES SPLIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Giants made their final appearance of the year Monday at the Polo Grounds and finished up the home stay by splitting a twin bill with the Boston Braves.

The New Yorkers ran their winning streak to five in a row to take the opener 5 to 3 behind the steady nine-hit elbowing of Carl Hubbell, who chalked up his 11th win of the year. The Braves came back in the eighth and ninth innings of the nightcap to win that one 2 to 1.

In the opener, Hubbell made his last appearance of the year. He has been excused for the rest of the season.

Young Dave Koslo, fresh up from Milwaukee, hooked up with Dick Errickson and Alva Javery, who took over in the seventh, in a tight duel in the nightcap.

Rex Mobley Risks Crown In Bout With Balk Estes

Light Heavyweight Belt Will Be At Stake In Monroe Arena Tonight

No other championship wrestling match ever promoted here is claiming as much attention as the Rex Mobley-Balk Estes title match scheduled for tonight at the Monroe arena where Estes will attempt to relieve Mobley of the light heavyweight belt he has worn for a little more than a year.

Interest in the battle has been stimulated as the result of last week's clash in which Estes, thinking he was getting a title shot, showed surprising skill as he sloshed the dope bucket all over the place to upset Champion Mobley and win in straight falls.

Estes, colorful ex-promoter of Baton Rouge and a native of El City, Okla., really thought he was the new champion for a few minutes last week until the misunderstanding was straightened out. But Estes is under no misunderstanding tonight, and Mobley is equally anxious to get a chance to square himself with the Oklahoma rowdy.

Promoter Gus Kallio and District Wrestling Commissioner Dave Silverstein have instructed Mobley to bring his belt into the ring with him tonight, and the mid-section adornment, sought by light heavies all over the world, will be at the ringside for Estes to calim if he repeats the job he turned in last Tuesday night.

Mobley, however, can be expected to be wary and especially on the alert for the "mystery hoist" with which Estes trapped him to win the deciding fall in last week's thriller. Estes, who declined to reval technicalities of his new hold which resembled an arm bar, said he had never used the hold until last week but had "invented" it for exclusive use against Mobley.

The fans who considered Estes "out of class" in taking on the Texan a week ago are just as emphatic now that he s' ids a good chance to repeat.

It is pointed out that Mobley, one of the roughest and meanest of light heavies, was never any wilder than he was in his last match here, and Estes withstood every Mobley trick, many outside the rules, to conquer the champion.

The battle, with a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win, will get underway somewhere between 9 and 9:30 o'clock.

The curtain-raiser, between Jack Curtis, national junior light heavyweight champion, and Les Chapamn, will start the show at 8:30 o'clock.

The semi-final also presents matmen of main event caliber, and the card should be one of the best arranged by Promoter Kallio this year. The Chapman-Curtis battle will be an hour time limit affair, two falls to win.

Aldin "Butch" Martin, veteran Monroe referee, has been engaged to handle both matches.

ROUGH WORK IS RULED OUT FOR INDIANS

Coach Malone Won't Take Chance Of Injuries By Scrimmaging

The Indians of Northeast Junior college went through their longest and hardest workout of the season yesterday and their last scrimmage before invading Kilgore, Tex., Thursday night for a meeting with Coach Clyde Lee's powerful Kilgore Junior college Rangers.

The injuries that have left the backfield in a crippled condition are responsible for the ban on any further scrimmages before taking on the Rangers as Coach James L. Malone sidesteps the possibility of other damaging injuries.

Coach Malone had Quarterback James McElroy and Guard Bill Abraham working at the fullback post yesterday, but he apparently is still undecided which will fill the job left empty when the squad's three fullbacks, Clayton "Red" Brown, Basil Fain and Bedford Smith, suffered injuries last week.

If McElroy starts at full, his understudy, Amadee Andria, 180-pound freshman from Union Town, Pa., will be at quarterback. Tommy Sands, 165-pound frosh from Wynne, Ark., will be at guard if Abraham goes to the backfield. Coach Malone will probably move Abraham into the line on defense, switching Sands to the backfield on defense if Abraham gets the fullback call.

Brown with his broken nose, souvenir of the Copiah-Lincoln game, was in uniform yesterday but didn't get much rough work. He had the fractured snozzle under the protection of a face mask.

Smith, who suffered an ankle injury against the Wolves, was not in uniform and will be out for Kilgore. Fain, nursing a back injury received in scrimmage, is also expected to be on the sidelines during the invasion of Ranger territory.

Jo Jo Swanger, one of the two backs returned from last season, looked impressive in yesterday's final scrimmage. He made several long runs and otherwise appeared in top form, and at his present stride he can be a big asset to the Tribe's chances of conquering Kilgore.

The workout yesterday, constituting just about everything in the book, lasted until dark and then Coach Malone had the lights turned on at Brown field and continued the drill through the early part of the night, stressing work on punts and conducting a long signal drill to develop scoring punch.

An offensive signal drill, with no body contact work, is on tap for today along with a session of blocking practice.

HODGE REACHES VALLEY FINALS

Advanceers Beat Brownies In Deciding Contest Of Series, 23-6

HODGE, La., Sept. 23.—(Special)—The booming bats of the Southern Advanceers made a farce of the deciding game with the Brown Paper Mill Brownies in the first-round playoff for the Ouachita Valley League crown here Sunday as they drove out 21 hits of all varieties for a 23-6 victory. The triumph sends Hodge into the finals with the winner of the Crossett-Springhill series.

Five pitchers tried their hands at turning back the Bombing Squadron, but to no avail.

Manager Jack Bagwell started Herb Steed on the mound and the local lambasters picked up three runs in the first inning before he was relieved by Lefty Counts. Counts pitched very well until the fifth when he was relieved by Sid Nethery when the locals started a rally that was good for eight markers. Nethery retired in the sixth as the batfest continued, being relieved by Jumbo Elliot, who was in turn replaced by Pat Patterson. With the game hopelessly lost, the Brownies clowned through the last two innings.

Pierce Finton, Hodge first baseman, led the hitting, getting a single, triple and two homers to drive in nine runs. One of his homers and the triple came in the big fifth for five runs batted in. Marvin Nix and More Hammonds also hit circuit blows, as did Woodrow Duncan for the Brownies. Hammonds collected four other hits.

Lefty Butler, on the mound for Hodge, gave up 13 hits, but several of these came as he coasted behind a big lead.

L. S. U.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Louisiana State wasted no time Monday in getting down to hard work for its tough intersectional game next Saturday with the Holy Cross Crusaders. Coach Bernie Moore put his charges through a snappy 20-minute scrimmage.

Nobody was hurt in the 25-0 opening game victory over Louisiana Tech but at the speed the Tigers got busy for Holy Cross, apparently there wasn't too much happiness about L. S. U.'s initial showing.

There was the feeling on the campus that Holy Cross, after taking two decided lickings from L. S. U. in as many seasons, would be in a Crusading mood this time.

OLE MISS

OXFORD, Miss., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Charlie Tillman red-shirt fullback, was moved to the third team Monday as Coach Harry Mehre and the University of Mississippi squad stepped up practice for their tilt Saturday with Georgetown.

The Rebel stock also was bolstered somewhat by the announcement that Art Goodwin, end, suffering from an eye infection, probably would see service in Saturday's contest.

KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The University of Kentucky's hopes for victory in its opening football game with V. P. I. Saturday were jarred seriously Monday with announcement that two first-ranked men would be out of the lineup.

The two lost were Center Sam Hulette and Fullback Bob Herbert, victims of thigh and knee injuries, respectively, suffered in practice several days ago.

FLORIDA

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—A game's experience under their belts but a bit pressed for time, the Florida Gators began preparations Monday for their Southeastern conference engagement Saturday with Mississippi State at State College, Miss.

With only four practice sessions in which to get ready before their departure Thursday, the Gators made the most of this afternoon's session. Head Coach Tom Lieb and Line Coach Sam McAllister gave the forwards an intensive workout in charging and blocking while the backs, who looked good in the 26-0 victory over Randolph Macon Saturday, ran through their repertoire of plays.

VANDERBILT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Although they will be underdogs in their game with Purdue Saturday, Coach Red Sanders expects his Vanderbilt team to score—he wouldn't say how much—against the Boilermakers.

"We'll score all right," he said. "We'll score against anybody this year."

AUBURN

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Auburn football team started secret practice Monday in preparing for its opening game Friday night at Montgomery with Howard of Birmingham.

Dummy Scrimmage against Howard plays as run by the freshman squad highlighted the drill.

Coach Jack Meager announced two frosh players, Harry Jenks, halfback from Atlanta, and Sam Smith of Dothan, an end, had been inducted into the army.

ALABAMA

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Alabama's football squad, prevented from engaging in regulation scrimmage because of injuries, saw another one of its members hurt and sent to the sidelines Monday.

Norman (Bull) Wesley, 202-pound reserve center, suffered a shoulder injury and joined the ailing group of John Wyhonic, guard; Billy Harrell, halfback, and Jack McKewen and Jack Aland, tackles.

BULLDOGS WILL PLAY MUCKERS

Tech Squad, Free From Injuries, Point Toward Tilt In El Paso

RUSTON, Sept. 23.—(Special)—Having got "a lot of good" out of their recent skirmish with Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge, the Louisiana Tech football players this week are turning their attention toward preparing for the Texas College of Mines Muckers, whom they will engage at El Paso, Tex., Saturday night.

In holding the L. S. U. Tigers to 25-0, the Techmen came away in about as good physical condition as they were in when the battle began, Head Coach Joe Aillet observed. What's equally as important, perhaps, is that the local Bulldogs won the plaudits of their mentors and followers and showed both friend and foe that Tech's 1941 varsity roster may have the names of a couple of Little All-Americans, namely, Captain Garland Gregory of Columbia and Robert May of Haynesville.

Gregory's performance at guard, surpassing his top-notch work that netted him a place on the first all-Louisiana Intercollegiate conference team last year, made him stand out as the best lineman on the field in the game with L. S. U., even according to the opposition.

Quarterback May's offensive blocking and his defensive play carried him away out into the high cotton on the L. S. U. field and the people are talking about him in glowing terms.

While the Bulldogs proved to the Tigers that they have developed a good defense against a running game, the Techmen's greatest improvement, Coach Aillet believes, is their linebacking.

Jim Allen of Camden, Ark., sophomore center, drew honorable mention from Coach Aillet for his work, along with two sophomore ends, Leonard Olsen of New Orleans and Joe Tom Mabry of Goodman, Miss.

There were, of course, some weaknesses to attract the attention of the coaches in the L. S. U. contest. One of the most noticeable fault was the Bulldogs' weakness on pass defense, Coach Aillet pointed out. That is one of the matters receiving consideration as the Techsters drill for the Miners.

Loretta Young Says Marriage Takes First Place With Her

By Hubbard Keavy

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23.—(AP)—(News-Star Special News Service)—Marriage means something to Loretta Young.

She told me she would give up her movie career rather than let it interfere with her marriage to Tom Lewis.

Before they married a year ago, Loretta said they discussed the inevitable career problem and this is somewhat how it went:

"Tom said, 'You have worked too long to give up pictures now. You are entitled to the prize of hard work. You have reached the stage in your career now where you can pick the pictures you want to appear in. That is something you cannot give up.'"

Loretta, after being under contract to studios for nearly 15 years, is a free lance now—she works when and where she pleases. She said she believes that if she had been under contract, and therefore obliged to appear in six or eight or ten films a year, she would not have married.

"And so we don't have a career problem," she said. "Tom is a normal man, the kind who expects his wife to be home when he returns from work. But he did make the concession I mentioned.

"I limit myself to two pictures a year. The two I've made since we married were done while Tom was in New York. Friends said, 'How fortunate—you and your husband have vacations away from each other.' But they were wrong. We weren't fortunate. We both were unhappy and, so far as our married life is concerned, we both count as happiness lost those times when we were away from each other.

"Tom now has moved his office here. (He is a radio executive.) If he hadn't, I would have gone to New York to be with him."

Loretta, an actress for nearly 24 of her 28 years, has had a good chance to see, from the inside, what goes on in her friends' homes. She has seen marriages come and go and she knows why most of them went.

Loretta impetuously eloped, when she was 17, with Grant Withers, but her mother had the marriage annulled very, very quickly. Loretta said then, when she fully realized the significance of marrying in haste, that the next time she married she would do so only after long and careful consideration.

In effect she told me this same thing the other day.

"I waited a long time to meet Tom and he says he waited a long time to meet me. We didn't rush into our marriage and then wonder what we were going to do afterwards. The career problem in our case was nonexistent almost.

"In fact, I don't think you could call it a career problem. If it came to career or marriage, I know which would win out."

DUKE WILL SEEK TRADE FOR COLONY

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor, once super-salesman for the British empire, will take time out on his vacation trip through the United States and Canada to drum up tourist trade for the little Bahaman colony he now governs.

Miami, first overnight stop on the journey, planned a quiet welcome for him and the American-born duchess on their arrival at 10:35 a.m., eastern standard time, aboard a chartered Pan-American clipper from Nassau.

The Windsors plan to entrain tomorrow for Washington, where the duke will discuss means of transporting tourists to Nassau, winter resort capital of the Bahama islands. Tourist travel there boomed last season, Edward's first as governor.

That will be aside from a social program that includes a White House luncheon and a reception at the British embassy.

The chief object of the trip, Edward said in Nassau, is to attend to business affairs at his ranch near Calgary, Alberta, which he has not seen for 14 years. There he plans to try horseback riding again after years out of the saddle.

Although the return itinerary is uncertain, the Windsors may visit New York and Baltimore, the duchess' birthplace, before completing the six-week holiday.

If he does go to New York, the abdicated monarch's reception is certain to be on a much quieter scale than his first visit in 1919 when, as Prince of Wales, he was greeted with showers of ticker tape and the cheers of thousands.

Edward's last trip to his ranch and to the eastern United States was in 1924 on an incognito visit.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Improved trade demand and scattered commission house and local buying enabled cotton futures to post sizable gains before southern offerings and profit taking ate into the advance. The fact that near months had eased below the August 15 parity level encouraged more active support. A depressing factor was the census report today showing larger ginnings than had been expected.

Late prices were 9 to 13 points higher; October 16.66; March 17.06 and July 17.26.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures reacted in the last hour of trading today, and erased earlier gains of more than a dollar a bale. The higher values brought out increased southern offerings together with mill liquidation and realizing. Large spot sales in the south appeared to have undermined confidence.

Another depressing factor was the census report showing larger ginnings than expected. Earlier in the day trade demand, coupled with commission house and local buying lifted prices about $1.50 a bale.

Futures closed 5-9 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Enough specialized rallying fuel was pumped into stocks today to keep the market rolling on four wheels.

Aircrafts, a few steels and motors achieved a degree of popularity after the opening and, at the best, gains ranged from fractions to a point or so Top quotations were later reduced and many laggards were in evidence at the close.

Brief but relatively fast bidding flurries in the morning expanded the turnover. There was a subsequent let-down in activity but transfers for the full proceedings were around 500,000 shares.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A little more buying optimism again put most stock market leaders on the rising side today but hesitancy continued in many parts of the list.

An early lift of fractions to a point or so were given aircrafts, steels and motors in fairly fast dealings. Both prices and activity were reduced near the fourth hour.

Initial demand was attributed partly to reports of stronger resistance of the Reds to the Nazi thrust. Inflationary thoughts also were present as talk was heard of important congressional opposition to proposed ceilings on commodities and wages. Business developments were moderately cheerful. Word of the sinking of another United States-owned ship in the Atlantic was received calmly in boardrooms.

Staples futures tilted forward. Bonds were sluggish and narrow.

BUCK AND HANDCAR MEET HEADON—THE DEER WINS

PONCHATOULA, La., Sept. 23.—(AP)—George Ordoyne was clipping along on a railroad "speeder" handcar through a cypress swamp when a buck deer and several does, fleeing from high waters caused by a tropical wind, barged on to the track.

The buck lowered his head and charged, knocking the handcar and Ordoyne from the track. The deer then fled back into the swamp.

Ordoyne got up, unhurt.

NEW PARACHUTE WILL PREVENT JUMPER SPINS

Fall Of 33,000 Feet Before Opening 'Chute Planned In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—(AP)—A new parachute which will prevent parachute troops from spinning dizzily through the air was announced today in a symposium on aviation medicine at the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary celebration.

Fright is the worst enemy of the parachutist, particularly in long delayed plunges necessary to avoid detection by the enemy, Dr. Andrew C. Ivy of Northwestern university, Chicago, and Dr. Anton J. Carlson of the University of Chicago declared in reporting on studies made on the mental and physical reactions of jumpers.

The new parachute with the small anti-spin "air anchor" has been found to give the jumper a feeling of confidence, particularly in delayed falls because he floats in an erect or partly erect position and does not whirl through the air.

"It is our belief that when it is necessary to bail out of an airplane, a delayed opening of the parachute has certain strategic advantages," the scientists declared.

The jumper is less likely to foul another jumper, gets out of the way of a plane out of control, and quickly reaches a low altitude where breathing is safe. In the delayed opening jumps a daring parachutist, A. H. Starnes of Chicago, shot downward at speeds of more than 150 miles an hour in five separate leaps.

As a result, the two scientists concluded:

1. Except in flights as fast as would be experienced in a jump from a descending dive bomber, there is no appreciable effect on heart rate and blood pressure.

2. A fleeting mental black-out occurs shortly after the jerk of the riser straps caused by the 'chute opening. Otherwise in a calm and unfrightened jumper, mental reactions are clear, rapid and normal.

3. The same difficulty in hearing was found as in standing in a high wind. Vision was not impaired when goggles were worn; the eyes watered without goggles.

4. There was no feeling of nausea even in spinning, because of the brevity of time. (The longest drop was 16,500 feet at 158 miles an hour, which consumed 71 seconds.)

5. Contrary to the findings of Dr. H. G. Armstrong of the United States army, there was no sensation of floating in space when the eyes were closed. Starnes said he "felt that he was falling, and falling rapidly."

The anti-spin parachute was made under the direction of Starnes, 36-year-old veteran of 16 years' flying, and furnished him by Dr. Louis R. Krasno of Northwestern university medical school and his father, Dr. Morris Krasno.

Starnes said today he would make a 35,000-foot scientific jump in Chicago within three weeks but without the new 'chute. He said he believed it important to an investigation of jumps from the stratosphere to obtain physical and psychological reactions from his free-falling body during the long and rapid descent without the aid of such a parachute.

The 35,000-foot jump, he said, would be the first in the United States from such a height during which he would fall 180 miles an hour before opening his parachute 2,000 feet above the ground.

Speaking on the same symposium Dr. Carlos Monge of the University San Marcos, Lima, Peru, described an "altitude human race" or group of people living at altitudes from 10,000 to 16,000 feet in the Andes mountains who almost suffocate when they come down to sea level.

These people, almost 10,000,000 of them, have a much slower heart rate in an atmosphere which is about half the sea level atmosphere. Each year many of them descend to the lowlands to work but seldom are able to stand what is to them a crushing supply of oxygen and return to the uplands within three months.

"May I suggest," Dr. Monge said, "that these men have some of the biological characteristics needed for an aviator, and that perhaps a better knowledge of the physiology of the man born and living at 15,000 feet of altitude could help the learning of the required conditions of fitness for high altitude flight? Since 1928, Peruvian aviators have flown over the Andes continuously at higher than 15,000 feet elevation."

Dr. Monge declared that in these people the heart is larger and performs 20 per cent more work than the sea level heart; the pulse rate in 41 per cent of the Andeans is slower than 60 beats to the minute; in 13 per cent it is slower than 50 compared with a normal rate at sea level of 72 beats; and after experimentally doubling the amount of exercise, the pulse actually was retarded.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Developments of the past few days certainly must have forced British Premier Churchill and his advisers to give serious consideration to the idea of staging a modified invasion of the continent in the shape of big and thoroughly organized raids.

The government has refused to be stampeded by pressure of the English press into a premature full-dress invasion, because of the terrible risk of an allied catastrophe, and military experts generally have agreed that this represented the course of wisdom. However, the gravity of the Russian position in the Ukraine calls for a major distraction to relieve the Nazi pressure against the Muscovites.

This is especially true since further heavy reverses, strengthening the possibility that Hitler may break into the Caucasus, might easily draw Japan and Bulgaria into the war against the Soviet. Even Turkey might feel compelled to grant Hitler military concessions which would add to allied difficulties.

The danger of an attempt at a general invasion of Western Europe lies in the fact that Britain would have to employ every warship she could lay her hands on. This massing of sea-power would present Hitler's luftwaffe a never-to-be-forgotten target, and there is small doubt that he would fill the sky with warplanes from the eastern theater. A great naval disaster might mean the end of the war for Britain.

Heavy raids, however, could be made without such risk—and there's no telling where they might lead. It's always possible that beachheads might be established on the French coast in sufficient strength to permit of more extensive operations. In any event, the Germans presumably would be compelled to divert warplanes, tanks and perhaps troops from the eastern theater in order to ensure that the allies didn't develop the raids into a major operation.

I am not trying to suggest that the Russians are on the point of collapse. There is, however, a very real danger that the Nazis may force their way into the Caucasus, thus jeopardizing the allied position in the middle east and the whole Mediterranean zone.

One would expect the allies would figure it profitable to make a great effort, even with much risk, to liquidate this threat. Possibly they may find opportunity to create a diversion elsewhere, but only a very great challenge to his security could turn Hitler away from that drive to the middle east.

Signs multiply that Japan is getting set for a possible invasion of Siberia, despite the lateness of the season. Highly reliable sources in Manila say that Nippon has sent at least a million troops to Manchukuo and Korea recently.

It long has been apparent that Japan, while marking time with her drive southward in order to avoid trouble with America, still has figured that she might turn her energies against the Russians without drawing gunfire from Uncle Sam. Tokyo has been watching the Russo-Nazi war front with an eagle eye, ready to take advantage of any Russian adversity.

The deterrent has been the fact that Russia is Britain's ally, and that the United States is rendering the Soviet material aid. Japan is fearful that this combination of circumstances might still involve her in war with the United States. Still, this might not be enough to prevent a Japanese assault on Siberia if Red Marshal Budyenny's armies continue rolling back.

If the allies can bridge this one contingency—the possibility of a Nazi break-through into the Caucasus—they will be sitting rather pretty for the winter. Here it should be said that the Russians themselves, aided by the weather, may turn the trick. The Germans still have a long stretch of territory to fight across to reach their objective.

All in all, the British will be trusting a lot to fortune if they don't stage a diversion greater than they can by bombing of German territory. This being so, it will be surprising if they don't make some special effort at this critical moment.

NEW NASH ON DISPLAY HERE

High-Economy '600' Featured In Series Of New Models

Harvesting the fruit of a long-term planning program, which provided Nash with new production lines, machines and dies before the national defense emergency set in, Nash motors division of Nash-Kelvinator corporation this week presented 15 new 1942 models. They are in three series of five models each and include the low-priced Nash Ambassador "600," the medium-priced Nash Ambassador Six and the Nash Ambassador Eight.

The cars are on display at the Hatten-Scott Motor company and Knowles Motor company.

Feature of the three series of cars is the low-priced, high-economy Nash "600," which Nash engineers claims is the newest automobile in the world in that it involves construction principles entirely new to the mass production automobile world. The new construction principles were thoroughly approved and acclaimed by thousands of drivers last year, but the car appears for 1942 with many advancements and improvements.

All the 15 Nash models are big cars, with full three-passenger seats which are just short of five feet wide. Even the low-priced "600" is 196 1-2 inches in over-all length, or about 16 1-2 feet from bumper to bumper.

Nash will stress the "600" this year, just as it did last year, and the outstanding features of this newest low-priced car include:

Unusual economy . . . 25 to 30 miles on a gallon of gas.

New type body construction. . . . The body is a single, welded, frameless steel unit. The cantilever bridge construction principle and the Monocoque principle of arching body metal to make it a supporting member are employed. It is claimed to be the strongest, safest and most durable body construction employed today.

Coil springs on all four wheels. . . . This is the first car in the low-priced field with this superior springing. Coil springs make for more comfortable riding conditions, and make handling much earier.

Two-way roller steering. . . . The steering mechanism rides up and down on fixed king pins mounted inside the coil springs. Springing and steering mechanism act as a unit—no longer does one fight the other. As a result, the car is easier to handle and much easier to park.

Soundproofing. . . . You don't have to shout to be heard in 1942 Nash cars, as all are soundproofed with "Sand Mortex," a sound deadener perfected by Nash and Kelvinator engineers.

Simplified, "Flying Scot" engine. . . . This engine was developed for the Nash "600," and is in perfect balance with the car. It is 75 horsepower, but with the inlet manifolding sealed within the engine block, it has been simplified to a point where it has fewer parts than conventional motors. This new design delivers better performance and uses less gas and oil.

ESCAPE BAD HURTS AS CAR OVERTURNS

Boyce King, 20-year-old Monroe resident, escaped serious injury Monday night when a car he was driving left highway 80 about four miles west of West Monroe and was almost demolished when it overturned. Attending physicians at the St. Francis sanitarium here, where King was taken following the accident, said the youth suffered bruises.

Riding in the machine with King was Phylis Bentz, Route 1, West Monroe, who escaped injury, according to state police officers who investigated the accident. King, officers reported, said he was traveling east on the highway when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching convoy of army trucks. His automobile, he said, left the left side of the highway and overturned. King was brought to Monroe by an army truck after the accident, which occurred about 12:30 a.m.

2 BIG PARTIES MOVE TOWARD WRECKED PLANE

Aerial Searchers Sight Remains Of Twin-Motored Bomber

By Arthur E. Burgess

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Two large rescue parties headed up Mount Constance in the Olympics today toward the spot where aerial searchers sighted the scattered wreckage of a twin-motored bomber.

Six men were aboard the eight-year-old ship when it vanished before dawn two weeks ago today. The aerial discoverers yesterday could see no sign of life on the rocky monutain face.

Major H. H. Pennington, who was in one of the two planes which sighted the wreckage, told newsmen:

"The bomber apparently hit against the stone-faced peak of the mountain about 10 feet from the top, then slid down a few feet to the edge of a 500-foot sheer cliff and fell over the cliff into a small ravine. It might have exploded just before going over the ledge.

"There was less left of the bomber from what we could see from the air than of the one that crashed near Morton last winter." (This crash killed seven men last January.)

Two searching parties left McChord field and Fort Lewis, one of 25 men and the other 20 men and 16 mules. Forest rangers and game wardens familiar with the region also were recruited.

To reach 7,700-foot Mount Constance, the searchers must travel a dozen miles up a mountain road to reach the mountain trail, itself a five-hour grind under favorable conditions.

Major Pennington said there was no sign of a trail near where the wreckage was sighted, and estimated a day or more would be required for trail blazing through trees and over rocks to the crash scene.

A miraculous escape was added to tragedy. A training plane with two men crashed far to the south while seeking the larger ship yesterday afternoon. The trainer cushioned its crash on treetops high on a mountain, and the two airmen, Second Lieutenant Hubert Croteaux and a private first class named Jones, bailed out safely.

GRASS FIRES, SMALL BLAZE ARE REPORTED

Several grass fires and a small blaze at the American Ice and Service company, 1601 DeSiard street, occupied the attention of members of the Monroe fire department Tuesday morning. The fire at the ice company, which was caused by carelessness with a cutting torch, was put out with little damage, firemen said.

Four runs, one of them for a grass fire, were made Monday afternoon by trucks at Central station. In one case, sparks ignited a sawdust pile and in another sparks ignited a dry kiln at the Louisville Cooperage company. A run was made about 4 p.m. Monday to the home of Ollie Johnson at 514 Marx street, where, firemen said, children playing with matches had started a fire in an automobile belonging to Johnson.

BOY KILLS FATHER AND SHOOTS MOTHER

ALTURAS, Calif., Sept. 23.—(AP)—Bob McCoin, 14, tired of doing household chores, shot and killed his father and wounded his mother, Sheriff John C. Sharp reported today.

The shooting occurred at a lumber camp where the father, R. C. McCoin was employed.

The sheriff said Bob fired three shots at his father. Two pierced the elder McCoin's eyes and a third struck his shoulder. When his mother came running to interfere, he wounded her in the legs. She was expected to recover.

OFFICERS ATTEND CONFERENCE HERE

Law enforcement officers in this area began a quarterly police conference of the federal bureau of investigation at 1:30 p.m. today in the United States district courtroom. H. B. Fletcher, special F. B. I. agent, New Orleans, presided.

Matt Monaghan, Louisiana department adjutant, American Legion, delivered the principal address following a preliminary talk by Mr. Fletcher.

The second half of the approximately three-hour conference was attended only by peace officers in this area, the F. B. I. agent, and the Louisiana Legionnaire.

"Sabotage Methods and How to Combat Them," was the theme of the meeting. The conclave included discussions of "Sabotage Investigations," and "Bombs and Explosives."
